Fair Operation Smooth So Far

By DOMINICK COSTELLO

"It's a funny kind of a fair — nothing has really gone wrong and nobody is complaining about anything," Wayne Whitney, veteran State Fair horticulture department head, reported Thursday.

"There is a reason that it is going well we have never been better organized. We didn't have the races this year so we had time to get all the little things done that sort of get forgotten in other years," said Henry Brandt, fair manager.

Brandt predicted that the opening night attractions would draw about 4,000 people onto the fairgrounds, the same as last year. Fair officials are now charging for people to come through the gate.

Dairy numbers in the 4-H exhibit are much smaller than in previous years, reflecting the fact that Nebraska has 6,000 fewer dairy cows than it had a year ago.

Dwayne Wittstruck, a Martell 4-H leader, said it would be his last year at the fair because his youngest daughter Laurie was in her last year in 4-H. "It is kind of sad. When we started the barns were crowded and there were large numbers in every class. Now there are lots of empty stalls," he said.

Phil Cole, Extension dairy specialist at the University of Nebraska, announced that the dairy judging schedule would be changed because of the smaller number of cattle this year. People who want to see 4-H dairy cattle will have to come to the fair Friday because they go home Friday evening.

Friday's judging events include 4-H dairy cattle in the youth complex starting at 8 a.m., open class swine judging at 10 a.m., first flower show judging at noon, open class Angus cattle at 1 p.m. and the pony performance classes at 7:30 p.m.

Women will be interested in the judging of the best in the county class of needlework on the stage of the exposition building.

Draft horses the tractors of yesteryear, will be judged at 8 a.m. in the coliseum.

Charles Miller of Ralston, secretary treasurer of the fair board, said that the fair needs some kind of annual opening ceremony each year. At the present, guards and ticket sellers simply start their operations at 4 p.m. in the day before the 10-day fair is to start officially.

The fair has a double decker bus that once rode over the streets of London, England, which it is using to haul 137 youngsters to the fairgrounds for rehearsals of an all-state high school chorus to be performed with the Lincoln Symphony Orchestra in the new sports and entertainment complex.

The youngsters are being housed at the Cornhusker Hotel in Lincoln. They arrived Wednesday for a series of rehearsals prior to the official program Friday evening with opera star Robert Merrill.

Computer Said Used In Fraud

Kansas City, Kan. (UPI) — An attorney for a federal prison inmate accused of filing fraudulent income tax returns which generated $19,500 in refunds said Thursday convicts were using a prison computer to steal government tax money.

Attorney Thomas Dawson said inmate Frank Ready claimed he was not part of the ring and that he had been framed.

Ready and his former wife, Melinda, went on trial in Federal District Court on an eight-count indictment for filing false income tax returns in 1973, 1974 and 1975.

Prosecution testimony indicated Ready obtained employer identification numbers from W-2 forms sent to other Leavenworth prison inmates, then filed tax returns claiming to have worked for those employers.

"My client's defense is that other people at the institution were in fact doing this," Dawson said. "I think everybody (inmates) at the institution was aware of it."

Warden Charles Benson denied a published report that government investigators suspected such a ring was operating in the prison, which has a terminal linked to an international computer network known as Infonet.

Many government agencies, including the IRS, have used Infonet on a time-sharing basis, but Benson said that terminal was used only during October.

Two investigators from the Senate Government Operations Committee visited the prison several months ago as part of an investigation into the potential for fraud in government computer programs.

While refusing to comment on their findings, the committee investigators were understood to believe there was some substance to Ready's charge that such a ring existed.

The computer at Leavenworth is linked to the U.S. Agriculture Department computer in Kansas City and inmates are paid 52 cents an hour to run programs for the USDA, the Bureau of Prisons and the National Endowment for the Humanities, according to Beeler Gause, in charge of the computer training at the prison.

Research on problems of security, defense and arms control in the nuclear age.

The survey reached no overall conclusion about the relative nuclear strengths of the United States and the Soviet Union.

Instead, it listed a number of "indicators."

The Soviet Union, it said, has a total of 2,507 intercontinental and submarine-launched ballistic missiles and long range bombers compared with the United States' 2,697.

But its strategic bombers alone the United States has a fleet of 387 compared with the Soviets' 128.

The United States, it said, has more than 6,500 deliverable nuclear warheads and the total may exceed 10,000 in the 1980s. The Soviet Union, it said, has 3,250 warheads but may more than double this figure to reach 7,500 in the coming decade.

But in terms of "equivalent megaton," a measurement of the capability of missile warheads to destroy arm targets, the Soviet total is of Swiss corporate entities controlled by Phillips.

During the eight-year period, the suit alleged, $585,000 was contributed to candidates for state and federal offices, including a $100,000 donation toward the re-election of President Nixon.

In December 1975 Phillips and Keeler pleaded guilty to charges of violating federal election laws prohibiting corporate campaign contributions. Both paid fines and the $100,000 donated to the Finance Committee to Re-elect the President was returned to Phillips.

The indictment Thursday charged the conspiracy was carried out on a worldwide scale — from Bartlesville, Okla., Phillips' headquarters to Washington to Geneva to London to Panama City.

The defendants raised about $3 million in secret transactions and concealed the money in Swiss bank deposits and as cash in the Bartlesville corporate headquarters, the government charged.

The money was not reported as income on tax returns the company filed for 1963 through 1971, the government said.

In addition to the conspiracy count, Martin was charged in three counts of assisting in the preparation of false tax returns for 1968 through 1971. The company also was charged with three counts of submitting false tax returns for those years.

The indictment charged that the company failed to report a total of $581,000 in income for those years.

There was no estimate of the amount of taxes the company allegedly evaded during the eight year period.

A Phillips subsidiary the Phillips Petroleum International Corp of Panama and other unidentified persons were listed as unindicted co-conspirators.

The indictment said the conspiracy involved agreements made by Phillips with Procon Inc of Des Plaines Ill., a refinery construction company, and its subsidiary Procofrance S.A. which has offices in Paris.

The scheme also involved agreements between Phillips and the Triton Shipping Co of New York City and Cochin Refinery Ltd of Cochin India the indictment said.

Phillips acted through the Panamanian subsidiary in negotiating those agreements.

The agreements involved secret payments from those companies to Phillips. The indictment said The other companies were not charged.

As part of the alleged conspiracy Phillips used international couriers code names mis-leading entries and false invoices and billings which would conceal from the Internal Revenue Service the true nature of the company's income and expenses the indictment said.

That prevented the IRS from making a complete and accurate audit of the company's books and records for income tax purposes.

The former Phillips officials who were charged in the conspiracy count are Stanley Learned '73 who was president and chief executive officer from 1964 to 1967 and a board member until 1970 and William Wayne Keeler '68 board chairman and chief executive officer from 1969 to 1972 and a board member until 1973.

Martin was the company president from 1971 to 1973 when he became chief executive officer. He still holds that position as well as the board chairmanship.

The conspiracy count carries a maximum penalty of a $10,000 fine for the corporation and five years in prison and a $10,000 fine for an individual. The charge of aiding the preparation of a false tax return is punishable by as much as a $5,000 fine and three years in prison. The charge of filing false tax returns carries a maximum penalty of $5,000 fine for a corporation.

19 Quarter-Sections Bought In Afternoon

Douglas — It must have been interesting that afternoon in 1867 when Forrest Phillips' great-grandfather came to Otoe County to buy a little land.

What did he give for it? I've heard so many stories said Phillips who lives on part of the original purchase. Some say he paid $1.50 others say $10. All I know for sure is that he bought 19 quarters in one afternoon.

Phillips said his great grandfather, Benjamin Chambless, was pretty well to do. They say he owned one of the finest farms you ever want to see in Blue Grass, Iowa.

But he had one son and nine daughters, and wanted each to have some land. Thus, that big afternoon in Otoe County.

Chambless left his son the Iowa farm, and willed part of the Otoe County farm to each of his nine girls.

Today, Phillips' great-grandson is the seventh generation of his family connected with the original purchase.

Despite selling and reselling of much of it, six generations of the family have lived on a part of the old Chambless farm, five generations have farmed it and three including one of Phillips' daughters were born there Phillips said.

Phillips '71 said he moved there during that dry year 1884, renting farmland from his mother. When she died, leaving part of the farm to each of her four sons Phillips said he bought out his brothers.

He remembers the drought years of the mid-1930s well, including the hard times.

There were days you know when I couldn't have given you 25 cents.

But eventually it got to producing real good. My father done all right on the land and we have too.

Phillips and his wife would like to see their great grandsons ages 2 and 3 continue the tradition if that's what they want. Mrs. Phillips said.

In the meantime the Phillips family can reflect upon heir recently received Ak-Sar Ben Pioneer Farm Award for the 100-plus years of family farm ownership.

The award and the continued family involvement are things Phillips said he wishes his great-grandfather could see.

If the old gentleman could wake up today and see this wouldn't that be something?

$10,577 Moving Bill Outrages Commissioners

By DICK HOLMAN

Duane Gay said he thinks it's way out of line.

Jack Romans said the fee seems outrageous.

Eric Rasmussen and Jim Munnely agreed, and the Public Service Commission members decided to see if they can snub a state official's advance bill by doing it cheaper themselves.

Ken Fougeron of the State Building Division signed a Department of Administrative Services voucher that charges the commission $10,577 for its upcoming winter move into the new state office building.

That's just across the street from the PSC third-floor offices at 1342 M. The voucher listed a one-time PSC charge of 90 cents for each one of the 11,730 square feet.

The voucher billing date was Aug. 10, but Chairman Gay of Columbus noted bids haven't even been let yet for the moving contract, and won't be opened until Sept. 15.

PSC Executive Secretary Everett Green cited a report that if it costs less than $10,577 to move the PSC to its new ground-floor offices the difference will go "into a revolving fund" to pay for building upkeep.

"We can very likely be paying for somebody else's moving," said Munnely of Omaha.

Green said the DAS bill appears to be based only on square footage, not on items to be moved. He said not all the PSC office items will go into the new quarters because some of it will be replaced by new furniture.

Gay, Munnely, Romans of Ord and Rasmussen of Farnam all nodded agreement to call a private mover to get an estimate on actual costs for the shift. The commissioners tentatively refused to approve Fougeron's bill.

In an interview later, Fougeron said he doesn't know whether the PSC legally can choose to move itself, because the Legislature directed DAS to centralize and coordinate the switch for the 44 agencies involved. But he explained the fee.

Fougeron said the moving bill for each agency was budgeted and validated last spring. And each's varying fee remained fixed, even if square footage to be used changed later. In fact, in the PSC case the new square footage increased while its moving bill stayed firm. Most space changes varied little.

He explained that the total moving cost $297,207, had to be estimated and appropriated based on unknowns at the time — including fluctuating space decisions, furniture subject to hauling, inflation — before requesting formal bids.

"We also included in that moving cost additional items," each with no determinable set dollar amount, he said, such as unexpected items needed in the new offices, and restoring to original condition the offices being vacated to meet landlord requirements.

Such costs will be paid from an initial revolving fund made up of the total moving fees charged agencies (on paper only with no cash transfers). Fougeron said any amount left unspent will also be carried over into the next fiscal year to apply a rent reduction to an agency's budget, for example.

We're not building up a slush fund, Fougeron said. It may look like it but we have to cover unexpected items and the money will be used for the agencies and the building one way or another.

He said the moving charges include no initial rent payments.

The PSC charge is down the ladder compared to some other agencies' bills. The Education Department has allotted $43,435 and the Health Department $43,583 at the top. Among small agencies to move, the Board of Examiners for Abstractors will pay $180, and the Athletic Commission $338.

"I still say there's no foundation to the allegations that were made that we know of," he said.

Attorney Dawson said Ready would claim other inmates filed a number of fraudulent tax returns, in some cases cheating the government out of thousands of dollars. He said they used the prison computer to develop a system of making up tax returns which the IRS computer would not mark for auditing.

Dawson said to his knowledge the inmates did not actually tap into the IRS computer. But he said the fraud was able to succeed because the IRS apparently did not cross-check the alleged withholding tax.

U.S. Nuclear Punch Half Soviets'

London (UPI) — The Soviet Union's nuclear arsenal has nearly twice the punch as the United States', but America has more than twice the number of nuclear warheads as Moscow, the International Institute for Strategic Studies said.

Each side is so strong one is unlikely to attack the other, the institute concluded in its annual "military balance" survey.

"The overall balance is such," it said, "as to make military aggression appear unattractive."

In Europe, the institute said, the Soviets and their Warsaw Pact allies have a big lead in number of troops, tanks, guns and planes over NATO (North Atlantic Treaty Organization).

"But (NATO's) defenses are of such a size and quality that any attempt to breach them would require major attack," it said. "The consequences for an attacker would be incalculable and the risks, including that of nuclear escalation, must impose caution."

Phillips Petroleum Indicted

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A federal grand jury indicted Phillips Petroleum Co., its board chairman and two former chairmen Thursday on federal tax charges alleging a global conspiracy to conceal $3 million in Swiss bank accounts and a secret cache at company headquarters.

The indictment, climaxing a months-long investigation, named the company, Board Chairman William F. Martin and two former chairmen and presidents, W.W. Keefer and Stanley F. Learned.

The company and the three men were charged with conspiring to defraud the United States by impeding the Internal Revenue Service in assessing and collecting corporate income taxes from 1963-1971.

Martin, in a statement from his office, said, "I have been apprised of the charges in the indictment and I want to state that such charges are unfounded. The case will be vigorously defended and I am confident that there will be complete vindication."

The other two men were not immediately available for comment.

The government's most recent investigation apparently grew out of a separate lawsuit filed by the Justice Department in February 1975 which charged that in 1963-64 the firm accumulated a total of $42.85 million in accounts of Swiss corporate entities controlled by Phillips.

During the eight-year period, the suit alleged, $565,000 was contributed to candidates for state and federal offices, including a $100,000 donation toward the re-election of President Nixon.

In December 1975, Phillips and Keefer pleaded guilty to charges of violating federal election laws prohibiting corporate campaign contributions. Both paid fines and the $100,000 donated to the Finance Committee to Re-elect the President was returned to Phillips.

As part of the alleged conspiracy, Phillips used "international couriers, code names, misleading entries, and false invoices and billings which would conceal from the Internal Revenue Service the true nature of the company's income and expenses," the indictment said.

That prevented the IRS "from making a complete and accurate audit of the company's books and records for income tax purposes," the indictment continued.

The former Phillips officials who were charged in the conspiracy count are Stanley Learned, 73, who was president and chief executive officer from 1964 to 1967, and a board member until 1970, and William Wayne Keefer, 68, board chairman and chief executive officer from 1969 to 1972 and a board member until 1973.

Martin was the company president from 1971 to 1973, when he became chief executive officer. He still holds that position as well as the board chairmanship.

The conspiracy count carries a maximum penalty of a $10,000 fine for the corporation and five years in prison and a $10,000 fine for an individual. Aliens Ordered Barred From Government Jobs

Washington (UPI) — President Ford, circumventing a Supreme Court ruling, Thursday ordered the Civil Service Commission to continue barring aliens from government employment.

"I am issuing an executive order which generally prohibits the employment of aliens in the competitive service," Ford said in a letter to the House and Senate and released by the White House.

"I have concluded that it is in the national interest to reserve the long-standing policy of generally prohibiting the employment of aliens from positions in the competitive service, except where the efficiency of the service or the national interest dictate otherwise in specific cases or circumstances."

The Supreme Court ruled last June 1 that the Civil Service Commission's own general prohibition against the employment of aliens violated the due process clause of 5th Amendment.

But the court, noting that the commission had instituted the ban on its own, left open the question of whether Congress or the President might issue a broad prohibition against employment of aliens in the Civil Service.

Ford said in his letter he was exercising that constitutional prerogative, but that Congress continues to maintain the primary responsibility in the matter and should follow up with action of its own.

"It is also my judgment," the President said, "that it would be detrimental to the efficiency of the Civil Service as well as contrary to the national interest, precipitously to employ aliens in the competitive service without an appropriate determination that it is in the national interest to do so."

Vorster Says He'll Meet With Kissinger Sunday

Washington (UPI) — The gloom surrounding Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's trip to Zurich to meet with Prime Minister John Vorster dissipated slightly Thursday when the South African leader sent word he would, after all, meet the secretary on Sunday.

U.S. diplomats had officially put on a good face when South African diplomats in Zurich let it be known Vorster had decided to avoid any Sunday session although that would leave only Saturday and Monday morning for his discussions with Kissinger.

The State Department said the decision only reflected that Vorster was "a very religious man" and professed the change in schedule had come as no surprise.

"I am told it has no significance and that the possibility of a day off on Sunday has been in the works for some time," said State Department spokesman Frederick Z. Brown.

Later, however, Brown announced Kissinger and Vorster would be meeting informally on Sunday.

"It has always been part of the schedule," he said, "that the secretary and the prime minister would meet informally, in a small social gathering on Sunday."

Brown said he was unable to explain the Zurich reports that the Sunday meeting had been called off by Vorster.

Unofficially, U.S. diplomats believed Vorster was making a gesture to show his displeasure at Kissinger's condemnation in a speech this week of South Africa's racial segregation policy as "incompatible with any sense of human dignity."

The prospects for Kissinger's hope of staving off a major black-white conflict in southern Africa have been slim from the beginning, as State Department officials made clear.

Under Secretary of Economic Affairs William D. Rogers and Assistant Secretary for African Affairs William D. Schaufele last week visited the presidents of the so-called "confrontation states" bordering Rhodesia — Zambia, Zaire, Tanzania and Mozambique.

They brought back gloomy assessments of prospects for a negotiated settlement of the demands of Rhodesia's overwhelming black population for majority rule.

Zambian President Kenneth Kaunda said recently the Rhodesian question "must now be decided on the battlefield."

Rogers and Schaufele recommended Kissinger make what may prove to be a last ditch effort to halt the slide toward war.

Viking 2 Mars Probe Gets Clean Bill Of Health For Friday Descent

Pasadena, Calif. (AP) — The Viking 2 Mars probe got a clean bill of health Thursday for its venturesome expedition to the planet that is hostile and puzzling but no longer a stranger.

The unmanned landing craft was given a thorough check-up in preparation for its release from the orbiting Viking 2 mother ship on Friday, and the tricky descent to the surface.

After the five-hour examination, mission officials said the 1,300-pound landing craft appeared to be "in very good shape" for its three-hour journey to its target. During the check, the lander's own nuclear generators were turned on.

Its landing, set for about 7 p.m. EDT, marks the second stage of an exploration already so lucrative that scientists may spend years in their laboratories refining the scientific gold.

With Viking 2 set to begin its work, the Viking 1 lander entered a period of reduced activity.

In the six weeks since its July 20 landing, plus the previous month spent in orbit, Viking has done much to strip Mars of its mystery. Yet some major issues, particularly the question of Martian life, remain clouded.

"There is no question about the success of Viking," said the chief project scientist, Dr. Gerald Soffen. "It has landed safely on Mars and gathered some remarkable data."

Because of Viking, he said, "We really do know something about the atmosphere" and its makeup in the early history of the planet. "We have begun to understand the geology of the surface."

"But the chemistry of the surface is still very confusing. The chemistry is going to be very complicated on Mars," he said. He was referring to strange goings-on in the Martian topsoil that have been detected by life-seeking experiments aboard the Viking 1 lander.

Much of what Viking 1 has found with its cameras and testers was not unexpected, but needed to be confirmed.

Some discoveries, such as the presence of argon and nitrogen gases in the atmosphere, were completely new.

Perhaps the most striking finding in general was that "Mars has revealed much more variety than anticipated," according to Soffen.

"New features of enormous dimension, and always different, were found daily — wide gorges, scarps, faults, flat valleys, mottled erosion, ancient shorelines, deep basins, blocky terrain, knobby terrain, tablelands, sunburnt craters, pedestalized craters . . ." he said.

They were etched and carved by geologic processes more active than had been thought. The finding of so many signs that water had once flowed on Mars was particularly intriguing. The current reckoning is that internal heat melted underground ice that erupted onto the land and drained back into the crust.

At a forum for visiting scientists this week, Soffen enumerated Viking 1's observations.

—Evidence of volcanic, fluvial (water-caused), aeolian (wind-caused) and depositional processes on Mars. There are craters resembling those on the Moon, but they seem to have occurred at one-tenth the frequency and wind has eroded them relatively slowly.

Scientists would like to learn more about the interior of Mars and find out whether any volcanic activity is still going on.

—The great Vallis Marineris, a series of canyons that far outstrip our Grand Canyon in size, was formed by much more recent processes than the craters were. These processes may still be continuing.

—The vast plains of the northern region are laced with almost geometric patterns of cracks, resembling some areas of the Arctic region on Earth.

—There is a great variety of rocks near the Viking 1 lander, all with a fine red coating.

—The sky contains suspended dust particles that make it look pink.

—Nitrogen and argon have been discovered in the atmosphere. Using the measurements of these gases, scientists have concluded that Mars' atmosphere was once significantly different and probably somewhat thicker than it is now.

—There is more water vapor in the area the farther north one looks, and there is a lot of water frozen in the north and south polar caps.

—The climate is rather stagnant and repetitive in the summertime.

—No organic matter (compounds based on carbon, essential for life as it is found on Earth) has been found in two samples of Mars dirt.

—The life-seeking biology experiments are inconclusive at this point, but have yielded clues to the chemistry of the surface.

Sharp Drops In Farm Prices Push Wholesale Prices Down

WASHINGTON (AP) —

Sharply lower prices for farm products and processed foods pushed over-all wholesale prices down one-tenth of one per cent in August, the Labor Department reported Thursday.

The agency said farm prices fell 2.9 per cent, the fifth monthly decline this year and the largest since a 4 per cent price drop in February of last year.

For consumers, the decline in farm prices means lower price tags on supermarket shelves.

The downward trend in farm prices also has been a major factor in slowing over-all inflation in the economy this year.

Commenting on the latest figures, White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said that President Ford "obviously is pleased because the wholesale price index continues to rise at only a moderate pace."

Nessen added that "the President's advisers don't see any indication of inflationary forces," but said that the "President feels there should be no complacency about inflation."

Leading the decline in farm prices were prices for hogs, grains, cotton and oil seeds. There were higher prices for poultry, cattle, eggs and coffee.

The Labor Department said prices of finished consumer foods declined 2.2 per cent at the wholesale level in August.

Prices for processed foods and feeds fell 2.8 per cent, the largest drop in this category of the wholesale price index since a 5.5 per cent decline in September of 1973.

On the minus side of the price index, however, was a seven-tenths of 1 per cent increase in prices of industrial commodities, the second straight month that prices have increased by this amount in the industrial category.

Economists say price behavior in the industrial sector is more important in determining the underlying rate of inflation in the

Violence Breaks Out In Cape Town Suburb

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Residents of a segregated mixed-race suburb near Cape Town demonstrated Thursday against racial segregation and more disturbances broke out in the black township of Soweto, near Johannesburg. One person was killed in Cape Town and another in Soweto, police said.

In Cape Town bystanders ran screaming and choking from tear gas in the first major racial violence in a white area of the city.

Shops closed down and traffic in the area came to a halt. The violence, involving some 3,000 demonstrators, grew out of a protest march against South Africa's policy of strict racial segregation.

In Hanover, the mixed-race suburb near Cape Town, police opened fire with shotguns after mobs stoned cars, set municipal rent offices afire and shattered windows. In addition to the man killed, another was injured, police said.

Police also fired tear gas to disperse a crowd of black students at the railway station in the black township of Langa.

Johannesburg police reported a black man was killed near the township of Soweto when his car was stoned. The death brought to 204 the number of persons killed since racial rioting first erupted June 16 in Soweto, home to more than a million blacks outside Johannesburg.

In the eastern coastal city of Durban, 500 black bus drivers returned to work after being told their strike, which had crippled the city, was illegal. The 500 drivers were demanding higher pay.

By late afternoon quiet was restored, but some homebound workers held handkerchiefs to their eyes to counteract lingering traces of gas. Police stood guard at road junctions in the city center, and asked people not to linger in the central area after leaving work.

In a rapid reaction, Police and Justice Minister James Kruger reintroduced a ban on outdoor gatherings until Oct. 31. Previous restrictions expired Tuesday.

The violence came on the eve of Prime Minister John Vorster's departure for Zurich, Switzerland, for a meeting on the mounting racial crisis in southern Africa with U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

Kissinger has promised to press Vorster to introduce "equality of opportunity and basic human rights" in South Africa. But the South African leader has made it clear external pressure will not alter South Africa's policies.

Kissinger's efforts were welcomed by the press in Zaire and Kenya. The official Zaire news agency said the United States was the power with sufficient political, economic, and military weight to convince South Africa to end apartheid.

In Nairobi the Nation newspaper called the U.S. initiative "an attempt to save the whites in southern Africa from themselves."

In South Africa's administrative capital of Pretoria, Kruger met with 30 black leaders from riot-torn Soweto to discuss black grievances. He would probably extend meetings to other troubled areas, he said.

One purpose of the talks, he said, was to involve the leaders in helping to keep the peace in townships.

Kepone Verdict: Innocent

Alexandria, Va. (Washington Star) — Federal Judge Robert R. Merhige Jr. on Thursday found two Allied Chemical Corp. employees innocent of a charge that they had conspired to cover up discharges of the pesticide Kepone into the James River at Hopewell, Va., four to five years ago.

Kelley Ouster Unlikely

Washington — Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi is expected to ask President Ford to retain Clarence M. Kelley as director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation despite disclosures that Kelley accepted expensive gifts from subordinates and may have misused government property, a source with access to details of case said Thursday.

Air Charters Relaxed

New York — The Civil Aeronautics Board, significantly expanding the opportunities for low-cost air travel, Thursday approved a new category of charter flights that eliminates virtually all restrictions except advance booking. The new rules, which go into effect Oct. 7, do not require passengers to be members of any existing group or to purchase ground arrangements as part of the air package — requirements for two major existing types of charters.

Terrorists Hit By Ban

Bonn — Some 18 European governments are expected to give preliminary approval later this month to a far-reaching treaty that would deny political asylum to terrorists. The treaty would set important precedents in international law, supporters believe, and mark the beginnings of a multinational attempt to control what is becoming an increasingly international threat.

Texas Election Law Ruled Unconstitutional By Panel

Austin, Tex. (UPI) — A three-judge federal panel Thursday ruled unconstitutional a section of the Texas' election code because it does not allow listing of independent candidates for president on the ballot.

But the panel said Eugene J. McCarthy, an independent candidate for president who requested the ruling, waited too late to bring suit and would not be allowed on the Nov. 2 ballot.

The silver-haired former senator from Minnesota challenged a section of the election code which says independent candidates for president or vice president cannot be listed on the ballot.

"There is no way we can get on the ballot in Texas unless the court rules favorably," McCarthy told the panel in testimony prior to the ruling. "We think it's unconstitutional."

McCarthy, a presidential candidate in the 1968 Democratic primary, has not announced his choice as vice presidential running mate. He also said he did not know if he would file suit to join the debates between Jimmy Carter and President Ford.

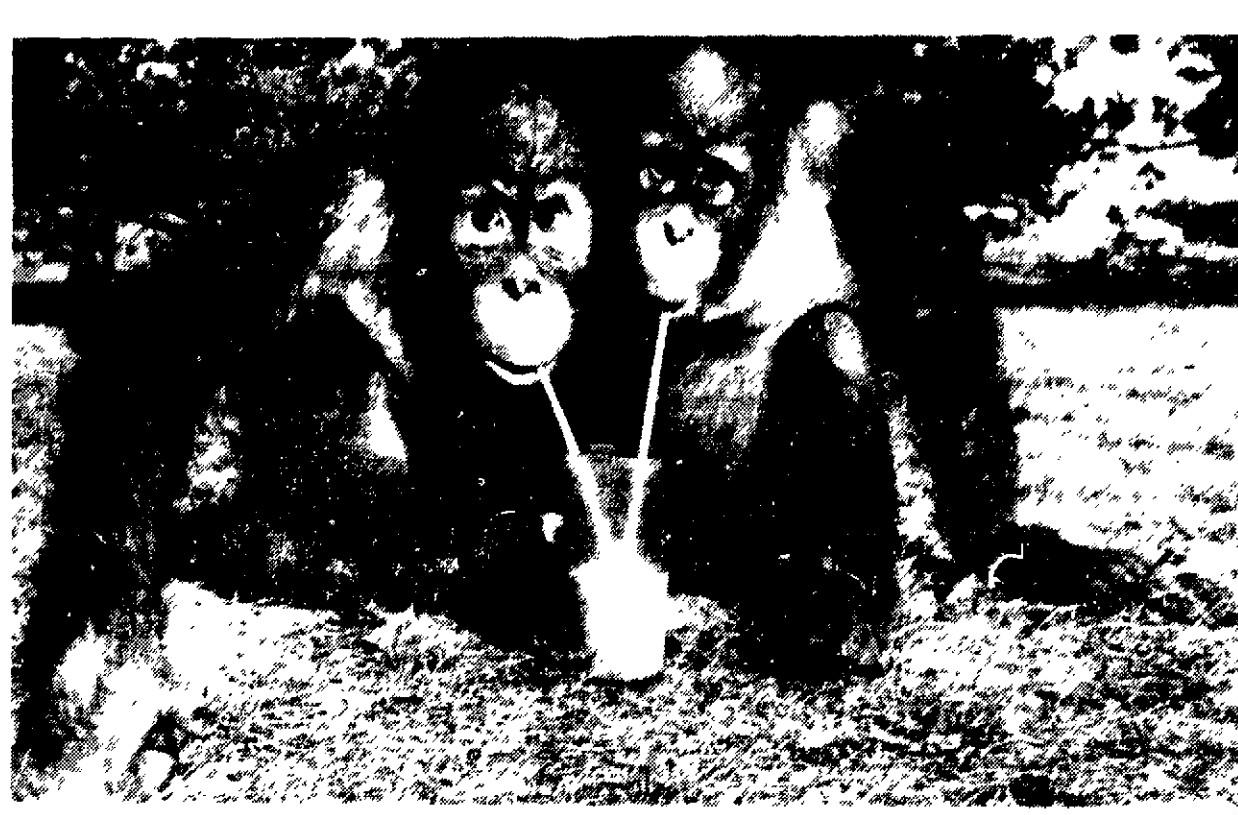

"We propose for every six hours of time, that Carter be given three hours because he has three different positions on everything; Ford be given two hours because it takes him two hours to explain what normally would take an hour and we would take one hour," McCarthy said.

Dave Kendall, first assistant attorney general, said it was unfair for McCarthy to wait until two months before the election to file the lawsuit.

"He's asking you to rule the state law unconstitutional on the hopes he could get enough support to get the required signatures (to get on the ballot)," Kendall told the judges. "And effort at this late date to put Mr. McCarthy on the ballot would be disruptive."

Secretary of State Mark White, the state's chief elections officer, said the Texas election code excludes the names of independent candidates for president and vice president from the ballot. He said the deadline for petitions to be placed on the ballot in statewide elections was February.

Radar Board Clocks Speeders

Ames, Iowa (UPI) — A new radar sign on Interstate 35 warns speeders to slow down, but refuses to flash even a warning to drivers going more than 65 miles an hour.

Iowa Department of Transportation officials say adjustments were made to an overhead mileage reader along the highway to discourage drivers from trying to "score" excessive speeds.

Fourteen-inch letters flash a radar reading to motorists traveling southbound on the interstate south of Ames. The sign went into operation this week and transportation officials said a second sign will be working next week.

Donald Alexander, a DOT spokesman, said officials in a southern state had trouble with similar signs because motorists tried to "hit a 100" as they passed.

London Says Torture Tactics Discontinued

Teeth Put In IRA Bill

LONDON (AP) — British troops and police tortured and mistreated suspected Irish Republican Army members in Northern Ireland during the last five months of 1971, the European Commission of Human Rights said Thursday. The British government did not deny the charges, but said its forces no longer used such tactics.

The commission's 600-page report cleared Britain of charges of otherwise violating human rights with tough antiterrorist legislation and noted that those who had been mistreated were paid substantial compensation.

The report is the result of a five-year investigation launched after the Irish government charged in December 1971 that Britain had tortured prisoners and violated human rights in Northern Ireland. It was released simultaneously in London, Dublin and Strasbourg.

"We do not challenge the report," a British government official said. "We do not deny that unpleasant things happened. But it's a thing of the past. We no longer use the interrogation techniques described in the report."

The IRA's Provisional wing has been waging a guerrilla campaign in the six counties of Northern Ireland for seven years to end British rule and unite the province with the Irish republic. A backlash by Protestant paramilitary groups turned the situation into a virtual civil war and Britain took over direct rule after suspending the provincial parliament.

The commission's findings and the Irish government's determination to press its charges have strained relations between Dublin and Lon-

"armed conspiracy" the government said was passed by the IRA.

Other laws to be voted on include one to increase the penalty for belonging to the IRA from two to seven years and another providing a maximum of 10 years imprisonment for anyone inciting others to join the IRA.

Justice Minister Patrick Cooney said it was regarded by police as a "most important weapon" in their fight against subversives.

"The crimes of these people include murder, attempted murder, bombings, shootings and armed robberies," Cooney said. "They are members of secret, ruthless, unlawful groups prepared by intimidation of witnesses and by collusion to obstruct and hamper police investigation.

"The ordinary legal process is inadequate and the police need to carry out their investigation free from such obstruction," Cooney said.

don at a time both are fighting terrorism.

Marilyn Rees, Britain's secretary for Northern Ireland, angrily accused Dublin of "raking up" the past. "I can see no justification for the Irish government's persistence in pressing it. The only people who can derive any satisfaction from all this are the terrorists."

Irish Foreign Minister Garret Fitzgerald said,

"The links between our two governments are so strong that any strain that might be put on them is not a serious one. The two governments are continuing to cooperate in the closest possible way against terrorism."

The report came less than 24 hours after the Irish parliament declared a state of emergency as the first step in an attempt to end actions by the IRA and Protestant extremists in the republic. The commission said it found British interrogators had used five torture techniques designed to deprive victims of their senses of sight, touch and hearing and restrict their movement in 11 of 16 "illustrative cases" presented by the Irish government.

The techniques described were:

— Hooding detainees with thick black cowls except when interrogating them.

— Subjecting them for long periods to "white noise" — continuous high-pitched hissing "calculated to isolate them from communication."

— Depriving detainees of sleep.

— Depriving them of food and water "other than one round of bread and one pint of water at six-hourly intervals."

— Forcing them to stand spread-eagled against a wall, supported by their outstretched fingers, for long periods.

The report said the torture was used during August, September and October of 1971. Those allegedly tortured were among nearly 350 men rounded up in predawn sweeps Aug. 9, 1971.

The sensory deprivation techniques were first developed by the Soviet secret police. The commission called them "a modern system of torture" and a "sophisticated method to break or even eliminate the will" in the strongest-willed person.

It caused no physical injury in Northern Ireland, the report said, "but it caused mentally a number of acute psychiatric symptoms."

Radar Board Clocks Speeders

Ames, Iowa (UPI) — A new radar sign on Interstate 35 warns speeders to slow down, but refuses to flash even a warning to drivers going more than 65 miles an hour.

Iowa Department of Transportation officials say adjustments were made to an overhead mileage reader along the highway to discourage drivers from trying to "score" excessive speeds.

Fourteen-inch letters flash a radar reading to motorists traveling southbound on the interstate south of Ames. The sign went into operation this week and transportation officials said a second sign will be working next week.

Donald Alexander, a DOT spokesman, said officials in a southern state had trouble with similar signs because motorists tried to "hit a 100" as they passed.

Dislikes Bus Route

Lincoln, Neb. What kind of advice is the Lincoln Advisory Council giving to our mayor, City Council, and Lincoln Transportation System? I was under the impression that the O Street Beautification Project was to bring more people downtown. Do people come downtown to look at the streets or to take advantage of the services offered there?

Now they have routed the buses so that it is more inconvenient than ever to come downtown. I have been made to understand the real purpose of the new route is to serve the County-City Building, the State Capitol, and the federal building. True, people do go to work there and leave work from there. But I still don't believe the few workers who use the buses there equal the workers and customers who want to go to Miller & Paine, Penney's, Walgreens, Hoyland Swanson and other businesses in the vicinity of 13th and O, which is now virtually out of the convenience area of the buses. And how can they justify running the buses to these government offices Monday nights, Thursday nights, and all day Saturday?

And how many times a year do members of the general public go to the County-City Building, the State Capitol, or the federal building? Are not the mini-buses sufficient to supply this service?

I am employed in downtown Lincoln. Since I come from the north, I have to get off the bus between 13th and 12th Streets, walk 2½ blocks and cross three intersections to get to work. Since the green lights are not synchronized for pedestrians, it takes a little time. And I am not so sure the walk will be so pleasant and healthful (as my worthy bus-driver advises me) when the streets are snowy and icy next winter.

So they have applied for a federal grant for eight downtown shelters at $4,500 each. What does a federal grant mean but more taxes for the general public? And how long before it is obtained and the shelters completed? Why eight? The shelter that could accommodate those who are forced to wait at 11th between O and P would have to extend the entire block.

I have ridden the present loop several times and our bus has stopped only once to pick up one passenger between 11th and P and 14th and M. Also, how can the bus make a legal left turn from the extreme right lane, across all those one-way streets?

I certainly think that the bus loop that came in on N Street and went out on P Street would adequately serve more people than the present one. Then they wouldn't all have to travel both sides of the same loop.

Many elderly people cannot walk very far even when streets are dry. So what will they do when winds are cold and streets are icy? They are the ones who are denied a driver's license.

And they all don't want to shop at 11th and O, and all their doctors, etc. are not located near there, and I doubt if they go to the government buildings.

I could cite some more inconveniences but perhaps some others will come forth with their arguments.

Opinions Are Valid

Lincoln, Neb. Comments have been made by Lincoln journalists and members of the City Council that much of the objection to the proposed lay-off of 10 firemen has come from relatives of firefighters and from the fire-fighters themselves.

As an employed person in Lincoln's work force, a homeowner, certainly a taxpayer and concerned citizen in my own right, I strongly resent the inference by these people that my opinion and the opinions of others are not to be considered since we are fire-fighters' wives, relatives and fire-fighters themselves.

More important than any interest I may have as a firefighter's wife is the interest I have as a citizen and taxpayer, and I'm sure I can safely speak on behalf of every fire-fighter and his family when I say that we join every other citizen of Lincoln in being concerned about the impact the proposed lay-offs will have in Lincoln not only today but in the future, and we have every right to receive assurance that our safety and the safety of the citizens of Lincoln is not being jeopardized in the name of economy.

In early discussions about the lay-offs, the City Council made note of the fact that not many citizens had objected to the proposed lay-off; therefore, the mayor and the City Council felt they were justified in making the budget cut. The truth was that the majority of Lincoln's citizens had no knowledge of the intended reduction and therefore had no opportunity to object. We are now receiving criticism for bringing the matter to the public's attention and, in many instances, our letters to the press are ignored because we are directly related to the proposed budget cut.

We shall continue to seek support of Lincoln's citizenry in an attempt to insure the continued protection and safety of the people of Lincoln and their property. It is our hope that our opinions and objections will not be ignored simply because we have a direct interest.

His idea of a good time apparently was, in addition to bedroom hijinks, making a junior member crawl.

Motives Are Not The Point

The Nebraska State Patrol has asked for a special meeting of the Legislature's Judiciary Committee so that charges about the patrol's drug enforcement efforts can be refuted. The committee has tentatively scheduled a session next Thursday and it is hoped that testimony then will shed light, not heat, on the subject.

Patrol Superintendent Col. C.P. Karthauser, in asking that the agency be heard by the senators, attacked what he called "irresponsible charges, half-truths and untruths by two criminal defense attorneys who specialize in defense of those accused and convicted of violations of Nebraska drug statutes."

The patrol's drug enforcement methods were criticized in a report given the judiciary committee by attorneys Kirk Naylor Jr. and Dennis Keefe. Both have represented clients in drug-related cases.

Gov. Jim Exon, as did Karthauser, noted that the two patrol critics have represented clients in drug cases. In questioning their motives, Exon emphasized that Naylor and Keefe "specialize and have a major portion of their livelihood in protecting the accused criminals ... defending those accused of violating Nebraska statutes on drugs . . ."

WASHINGTON — Somewhere in the bowels of Maryland, Spiro T. Agnew must be laughing. The issue of national press power and responsibility, which the gentry of the Fourth Estate believed had been buried with the careers of Messrs. Nixon and Agnew, is now creeping back into the political debate despite what appears to be a major media blackout.

Gerald Ford is not the culprit. Press Secretary Ron Nease to Commerce Robert Hartman, the Republican President is surrounded by former employees of major media conglomerates. And Mr. Ford has been friendly to the media rather than hostile.

This time, the attacks are coming from the other side. Former Democratic Senator Eugene McCarthy, running for president as an Independent, protests that the national media have ignored him and threatens to make television network power an issue in the autumn campaign. Earlier this year, McCarthy's then-campaign chairman, Ronald Coccoone, issued a personal statement that the slaying of the two Americans was "regretful." It was the first apology Kim has ever made to the U.S.

The attitude of the Russians and Chinese raises the hope that future incidents can be defused before they develop into a war of incredible magnitude. In a typical cable, for example, the U.S. embassy in Moscow quoted the comment of an official in the Soviet Foreign Ministry.

The confidential cable quoted the Soviet as saying: "With friends like Kim, who needs enemies?" This probably wasn't the official's exact language but, rather, the embassy's paraphrase of what the official meant. But he went on to decry Kim's meddling with the balance of power.

Murphy agreed. "Why do you think the North Koreans sent the United States an

But Assistant Secretary of State Philip Habib probably summarized the Korean incident best in a telephone conversation with Rep. John Murphy, D-N.Y. Habib called to protest a resolution that Murphy had submitted on the Korean crisis.

"I know you agree with the display of force we put on," said Habib. "I mean, we sent a squadron of F-4s from Japan, a squadron of F-111s from Idaho and put the carrier Midway with five escort vessels and 75 fighter-bombers in the Sea of Japan.

"We flew over B-52s and on the morning we cut down the tree, we lined up every trooper and every piece of equipment on the hill so the North Koreans could see. I didn't think we could go any further than that."

Murphy agreed. "Why do you think the apology of sorts?" he asked. "This is unprecedented for them."

"I think they overplayed their hand," suggested Habib. "It backfired on them. Realizing this, they had to back off a little."

"Don't you think the Russians and the Chinese let Kim Il Sung know that they thought this was a totally insane act and that they weren't about to let him start something and expected them to finish it?" asked the Congressman.

"Yes," said Habib. "I think Russia and China definitely had input into the incident after it happened, but I don't think they would go so far as to abandon him. They probably told him, 'What the hell are you doing? The United States is not going to tolerate this, and you had better make some conciliatory gesture.'"

Ford's Yellowstone Charter

without threatening his conservative base of support, because the idea is also one which is dear to the hearts of many conservatives, particularly westerners.

This magic potion is the President's proposal to spend $1.5 billion to double the size of the nation's park system over the next 10 years. The plan would clearly increase the budget, even though Mr. Ford spoke vaguely of some sort of cuts somewhere, not specified. To date, he's been against a bigger budget with a veto vengeance.

This plan would call for $200 million worth of federally funded jobs, and while that's not many (about 1,500 new positions), it nonetheless represents a 180 degree change of direction of Mr. Ford's past thinking.

The plan is also a conservationist's dream, although in all of Mr. Ford's long government career it is about the first thing he's ever put forward calculated to win him membership in Friends of the Earth.

It is, in short, a tantalizing flirtation with Jimmy Carter's philosophy, close enough to the flame to get the attention of some of the Democrat's potential supporters, yet far enough away to keep his own people safely in tow, because Mr. Ford's commission of these deadly sins of the left are (a) in miniature and (b) wrapped in a package one step short of motherhood: Smokey the Bear, forest rangers, camp sites, trout in a pan. Who could oppose that?

Well, nobody. It's a good idea with a smart political twist. But there is a danger, and that is that ex-forest ranger turned President Jerry Ford will be perceived as less than candid and honorable about his motives. Indeed, leaders of several conservation organizations have already called the Mr. Ford a cynical unmentionable, and here the President's idea is less than a week old. Even Mr. Ford's supporters have to admit that his parks proposal represents the turning over of a whole forest of new leaves on the part of their man.

But that's the kind of criticism Mr. Ford can probably weather. What remains to be seen is whether the President can duplicate his national parks coup in other, more critical areas. The odds would seem to be against him. But then, somebody answered this first ad, and that in itself was a pretty tall order to fill.

be cut in many parts of the country. That could mean a three-day work week for factories and even closures. As heat wave follows heat wave, only beer consumption has hit an all-time high.

Wales has been one of the most afflicted areas. A million people in Southern Wales have their water supply cut off every night. Baths are now out. So is watering the garden. The fine for ignoring restrictions on water use is now $750 and may go up. Local water authorities have been given power to limit or cut off supplies under emergency legislation.

The situation shows no signs of improvement. Long-range forecasts call for warm, dry and sunny periods for the rest of the summer. And September and October are usually the driest months of the year. Because extremely dry conditions prevail, there is an ever-present danger of brush fires.

Two years ago I visited the drought-stricken areas of Africa south of the Sahara and watched nomads bring their precious camels, goats and many cows to the slaughterhouses because there was no more fodder. I never envisaged that the same thing could happen in England. With a bale of hay costing up to $6, many English farmers also are leading their cattle to market.

There can be little doubt that the prospect of a deteriorating climate can produce widespread social unrest.

Last May the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency made public its first weather forecast because it felt that climatic changes might cause mass hunger, the economic and political collapse of nations and "militarily large-scale migrations of their people."

Two years ago I visited the drought-stricken areas of Africa south of the Sahara and watched nomads bring their precious camels, goats and many cows to the slaughterhouses because there was no more fodder. I never envisaged that the same thing could happen in England. With a bale of hay costing up to $6, many English farmers also are leading their cattle to market.

Although it is fanciful to think of olive groves in Sussex or oranges in Hampshire, farmers here are having to think about switching to crops like corn and oil seeds. Everywhere attitudes are going to have to be re-examined. Many of the tourists coming to un-air-conditioned England are saying they will never come back in the summer because "it's too hot."

Such comments make clear that what we thought was unthinkable is now with us.

But the biggest sassing of all is being swung by Democratic nominee Jimmy Carter. As a candidate for governor of Georgia in 1970, Carter ran against the local media, and as governor, he kept up a running battle with the state's leading newspaper, the Atlanta Constitution.

Aware of his own problems with the media as governor, Carter is apparently also concerned over what he believes the national media have done to White House occupants. After the June Ohio primary, the Columbus Dispatch reported this informative vignette. Ohio reporter asked Carter how he thought he had been treated by the press. The Georgian replied that he had been "treated fairly, comparatively." A newsman shouted, "Compared with what?" Carter replied, "Well, compared with the way you

treated Richard Nixon."

On Aug. 9, speaking to Ralph Nader's Public Citizens' Forum in Washington, Carter offered these powerful views on television violence and White House control of programming:

"Yes, I do think there's too much violence on television. I think that the President himself has certainly a right, even an obligation, to express to the public displeasure or criticism of programming content . . . I believe it would have a great influence to the extent the President was both forceful and trusted to shape the opinion of viewers of television programs. And if I should call on parents of this nation or viewers to express their displeasure . . . I think there would be a beneficial effect there. I also believe that within the framework of the law, it would be appropriate to have members of the regulatory agency prescribe some standards. I personally don't favor censorship as such. I think this offers a very fine subjective decision to be made between censorship on one hand and quality content on the other."

Rough stuff, huh? If this had been Spiro Agnew or Richard Nixon talking, the caveat about opposing actual censorship would have been ignored, as editorial pages and evening news shows erupted in a frenzy of charges.

With Jimmy Carter at the microphone, though, the big media were miffed. Not a word was carried on the evening news programs. Only the trade press carried private discussions of concern.

The truth is that with the political blood of two presidents on their heads, and given their own increasingly unsavory reputation for peddling sex and violence, the mass media probably cannot win another confrontation with yet another chief executive. So they're ducking and praying. But the issue of media power lives on, and if Spiro Agnew is chuckling, he has cause.

whole matter could be dropped, but it shouldn't be made that easy for them.

Among the issues President Ford has at his disposal this year is the appalling record the Democratic-controlled Congress has written in cleaning its own House — and, maybe, Senate.

The Congress which justly drove Nixon from office is not so interested in hanging its dirty wash out for all to see.

Members who abuse their office by using their power to obtain favors and enrichment are scolded and let off the hook.

The investigations of those who are close to being pimps for their friends among the mighty and who use tax money to support girl friends who can't or don't type are terminated when those who are caught with their pants down resign. Allegations similar to those lodged against Hays doubtless will be put on the back burner unless public pressure is applied.

Congress has written a lousy record in this area and Ford has every right to capitalize on it.

KEVIN P.
PHILLIPS

WASHINGTON — Somewhere in the bowels of Maryland, Spiro T. Agnew must be laughing. The issue of national press power and responsibility, which the gentry of the Fourth Estate believed had been buried with the careers of Messrs. Nixon and Agnew, is now creeping back into the political debate despite what appears to be a major media blackout.

Gerald Ford is not the culprit. From Press Secretary Ron Nease to Counselor Robert Hartmann, the Republican President is surrounded by former employees of major media conglomerates. And Mr. Ford has been friendly to the media rather than hostile.

This time, the attacks are coming from the other side. Former Democratic Senator Eugene McCarthy, running for president as an Independent, protests that the national media have ignored him and threatens to make television network power an issue in the autumn campaign. Earlier this year, McCarthy's then-campaign chairman, Ronald Cocomo, issued a personal statement that the slaying of the two Americans was "regretful." It was the first apology Kim has ever made to the U.S.

The attitude of the Russians and Chinese raises the hope that future incidents can be defused before they develop into a war of incredible magnitude. In a typical cable, for example, the U.S. embassy in Moscow quoted the comment of an official in the Soviet Foreign Ministry.

The confidential cable quoted the Soviet as saying: "With friends like Kim, who needs enemies?" This probably wasn't the official's exact language but, rather, the embassy's paraphrase of what the official meant. But he went on to decry Kim's meddling with the balance of power.

But Assistant Secretary of State Philip Habib probably summarized the Korean incident best in a telephone conversation with Rep. John Murphy, D-N.Y. Habib had submitted to protest a resolution that Murphy had submitted on the Korean crisis.

"I know you agree with the display of force we put on," said Habib. "I mean, we sent a squadron of F-4s from Japan, a squadron of F-11s from Idaho and put the carrier Midway with five escort vessels and 75 fighter-bombers in the Sea of Japan.

"We flew over B-52s and on the morning we cut down the tree, we lined up every trooper and every piece of equipment on the hill so the North Koreans could see. I didn't think we could go any further than that."

Murphy agreed. "Why do you think the North Koreans sent the United States an apology of sorts?" he asked. "This is unprecedented for them."

"I think they overplayed their hand," suggested Habib. "It backfired on them. Realizing this, they had to back off a little."

"Don't you think the Russians and the Chinese let Kim Il Sung know that they thought this was a totally insane act and that they weren't about to let him start something and expect them to finish it?" asked the Congressman.

"Yes," said Habib. "I think Russia and China definitely had input into the incident after it happened, but I don't think they would go so far as to abandon him. They probably told him, 'What the hell are you doing? The United States is not going to tolerate this, and you had better make some conciliatory gesture.'" without threatening his conservative base of support, because the idea is also one which is dear to the hearts of many conservatives, particularly westerners.

This magic potion is the President's proposal to spend $1.5 billion to double the size of the nation's park system over the next 10 years. The plan would clearly increase the budget, even though Mr. Ford spoke vaguely of some sort of cuts somewhere, not specified. To date, he's been against a bigger budget with a veto vengeance.

This plan would call for $200 million worth of federally funded jobs, and while that's not many (about 1,500 new positions), it nonetheless represents a 180 degree change of direction of Mr. Ford's past thinking.

The plan is also a conservationist's dream, although in all of Mr. Ford's long government career it is about the first thing he's ever put forward calculated to win him membership in Friends of the Earth.

It is, in short, a tantalizing flirtation with Jimmy Carter's philosophy, close enough to the flame to get the attention of some of the Democrat's potential supporters, yet far enough away to keep his own people safely in tow, because Mr. Ford's commission of these deadly sins of the left are (a) in miniature and (b) wrapped in a package one step short of motherhood: Smokey the Bear, forest rangers, camp sites, trout in a pan. Who could oppose that?

Well, nobody. It's a good idea with a smart political twist. But there is a danger, and that is that ex-forest ranger prevail, there is an ever-present danger of brush fires.

Wales has been one of the most afflicted areas. A million people in Southern Wales have their water supply cut off every night. Baths are now out. So is watering the garden. The fine for ignoring restrictions on water use is now $750 and may yet go up. Local water authorities have been given power to limit or cut off supplies under emergency legislation.

The situation shows no signs of improvement. Long-range forecasts call for warm, dry and sunny periods for the rest of the summer. And September and October are usually the driest months of the year. Because extremely dry conditions were so far as to say "Agnew was right. They're all so alike they might as well put out the news together."

But the biggest sandbag of all is being swayed by Democratic nominee Jimmy Carter. As a candidate for governor of Georgia in 1970, Carter ran against the local media, and as governor, he kept up a running battle with the state's leading newspaper, the Atlanta Constitution.

Aware of his own problems with the media as governor, Carter is apparently also concerned over what he believes the national media have done to White House occupants. After the June Ohio primary, the Columbus Dispatch reported this informative vignette. Ohio reporters asked Carter how he thought he had been treated by the press. The Georgian replied that he had been "treated fairly, comparatively." A newsman shouted, "Compared with what?" Carter replied, "Well, compared with the way you

On Aug. 9, speaking to Ralph Nader's Public Citizens' Forum in Washington, Carter offered these powerful views on television violence and White House control of programming:

"Yes, I do think there's too much violence on television. I think that the President himself has certainly a right, even an obligation, to express to the public displeasure or criticism of programming content . . . I believe it would have a great influence to the extent the President was both forceful and trusted to shape the opinion of viewers of television programs. And if I should call on parents of this nation or viewers to express their displeasure . . . I think there would be a beneficial effect there. I also believe that within the framework of the law, it would be appropriate to have members of the regulatory agency prescribe some standards. I personally don't favor censorship as such. I think this offers a very fine subjective decision to be made between censorship on one hand and quality content on the other."

Rough stuff, huh? If this had been Spiro Agnew or Richard Nixon talking, the caveat about opposing actual censorship would have been ignored, as editorial pages and evening news shows erupted in a frenzy of charges.

The truth is that with the political blood of two presidents on their hands, and given their own increasingly unsavory reputation for peddling sex and violence, the mass media probably cannot win another confrontation with yet another chief executive. So they're ducking and praying. But the issue of media power lives on, and if Spiro Agnew is chuckling, he has cause.

Labor Day Gas Supply Said Good

Omaha (UPI) — The Cornhusker Motor Club Thursday had some good news for motorists traveling in Nebraska during the Labor Day weekend.

The motor club said travelers will find gasoline prices have taken another slight dip for the second straight month and that more than 80% of the stations contacted statewide will be open for business during the upcoming weekend.

The motor club said there is an ample supply of gasoline in the state with the average price for regular gasoline at 60 1¢ per gallon at self service pumps and 63 8¢ per gallon for full service.

The latest survey of 186 service stations during the week of Aug. 23-30 showed Grand Island and North Platte motorists paying the highest prices for regular gasoline at 61 2¢ per gallon while Scottsbluff drivers paid the lowest, 58 1¢ per gallon.

Premium gasoline users were paying as much as 71 9¢ per gallon in several locations.

Unleaded gasoline prices averaged 63 4¢ per gallon and premium at 65 5¢.

Independent gasoline stations were underselling major brands by an average of 3 8¢ per gallon. Stations along highways were one cent higher than those at "in town" locations.

The overall prices for Lincoln were Regular 59 9¢ premium 65 5¢ unleaded 62 0¢ and spread between majors and independents 5 3 to 5 8 cents per gallon.

Los Angeles (AP) — Don Bolles, Arizona Republic reporter who was killed after his car was bombed in Phoenix last June, will be the subject of a television movie produced by MGM.

A spokesman for MGM Television said rights to the story had been obtained by producer Arthur Loew Jr from Bolles' widow Rosalie. The reporter had been investigating a land-fraud scheme when his car was blown up.

Before closing with "The Sounds of Silence," the station played a song by Gladys Knight which says, "There is no way for there to be a happy ending. There is no use pretending."

KOIL Signs Off Airwaves

Omaha (UPI) — Radio Station KOIL AM signed off the airwaves for an "indefinite period of time" at 12:01 a.m. Thursday with Simon and Garfunkel's song, "The Sounds of Silence."

KOIL joined its FM counterpart, KEFM, and WIFE-FM, Indianapolis, Ind., and KISN, Vancouver, Wash., in obeying an order by the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia upholding a Federal Communications Commission ruling to terminate the four Star Stations, Inc., outlets until a permanent licensee can be found for each facility.

At midnight, a KOIL spokesman said the station was going off the air "for an indefinite period of time because of the FCC ruling. The spokesman thanked the thousands of KOIL listeners who have supported the station for the past 51 years.

Before closing with "The Sounds of Silence," the station played a song by Gladys Knight which says, "There is no way for there to be a happy ending. There is no use pretending."

Flu Vaccine Expected By Mid-October

Kearney (UPI) — Every person who participates in the swine flu immunization program this fall will have to sign a consent form, according to Bill Pack of Lincoln, Nebraska Health Department immunization coordinator.

He said vaccine should be in physicians' offices about mid-October and mass clinics should start at the end of the October.

He met Wednesday and Thursday with health officials from outstate Nebraska to discuss the program and learn how the vaccine will be distributed.

Commenting on the liability aspect of the program, Dr. Paul Stoez, head of the disease control division of the Nebraska Health Department, said the federal government will stand behind any claims made against administrators in public health clinics.

Stoez said he believes the vaccine is very safe. The cost of making and administering it is minimal compared to the costs that would result if a full-fledged flu epidemic swept the country, he said.

Play grass is developed by Scotts for hard use areas. A good combination of fine bladed grasses to take a lot of abuse. Don't sow any grass seed without using Starter Fertilizer. It hastens early development of seedling plants.

FALL LAWN SEEDING

September is by all odds the best time to seed or re-seed your lawn. As we come into the period of warm days and cool nights, this is nature's signal that the time is here. Seed sown at this time germinates quickly, the new grass grows fast and you probably will mow once or twice before cold weather. You will probably get some weed seed germination, but don't let this worry you. Nature is on your side. The first heavy frost will kill the weeds but your new grass will push right along until cold weather possibly Thanksgiving time or even later. Green grass does not grow on concrete parking lots, but it does grow out here. We have several actual grass plots to show you, including low maintenance and regular grasses. We have several Scotts mixtures—in fact we have been designated by Scotts as a pro shop. About this dry weather. It is dry and new seeding requires frequent watering. In watering your new seeding, it is frequency that counts. By all means fertilize at seeding time.

Death Causes Probe For Toxic Sewer Gas

Omaha (AP) — The death of an Omaha city worker has spawned an investigation of a sewer line in Sarpy County near the south entrance to the Strategic Air Command headquarters.

Kent Whinnery of the city's Legal Department said the sewer line near the Papillion Creek sanitary outlet may be leaking toxic gases.

An investigation team headed by Gary Poore of the Public Works Department began 24 hours of experimental samplings on the line Thursday to determine if toxic gases are escaping. Some results of these experiments might be available Friday, Whinnery said.

The worker, the Rev. Billy E. Brown, 42, an associate pastor of the Antioch Church of Christ and God, collapsed after apparently being overcome by fumes Tuesday.

Limousines Cut By Own Request

By DICK HOLMAN

Star Staff Writer

The Nebraska Public Service Commission on Thursday granted the Bill Mowbray Inc. request to suspend its license to operate the Lincoln Airport Limousine Service until Dec. 1.

Commissioners agreed to the suspension after staff attorney James Paine, head of the PSC motor transportation department, reviewed Mowbray balance sheets which he said, indicate stockholders can't sustain repeated losses.

The Mowbray firm listed a $43,000 loss in 1975, and went another $19,000 in the red during 1976, Paine said. The suspension will allow time to sell the operation, dispose of the equipment, or decide on reviving service.

The PSC agreed to initiate an investigation of the Stanton Telephone Co., which the Legislature's Telecommunications Committee requested. Sens. Robert Clark of Sidney and Douglas Bereuter of Utica had written commissioners letters regarding complaints about poor phone service, brought up during statewide hearings.

Commissioner Eric Rasmussen of Fairmont said the PSC reaction demonstrates the need for a reporting system by industry or the commission to pinpoint needs before they become problems. Phone companies aren't required to make service reports except for standard annual reports, although service varies by company and area. The PSC has argued about regular service reports in the past, but has adopted no provision for them.

Commissioners voted 3-1, with

Robert Marland of Lincoln absent, to renew a federal-state rail safety inspection agreement for a year.

Chairman Duane Gay of Columbus dissented, objecting that the federal part of the 50-50 pact isn't curtailing but facilitating rail line abandonments. Rasmussen challenged that claim, and Gay said he couldn't offer any specifics to back up his contention. Rasmussen said the federal cooperative program is one that works well.

The commission also set an Oct. 6 hearing in Kearney on the Pioneer Airways Inc. application for authority to operate commuter air service for passengers, freight and mail to nine Nebraska communities. No other outstate hearings were scheduled.

Paine said Kearney City Atty. Michael Kelley requested the October date, to allow time to review the jurisdictional order in which the PSC decided it may act on the Pioneer case. Kelley represents several communities, airport authorities and the Southern Route Commission, claiming Pioneer won't provide the kind of replacement service for Frontier Airlines that's desired and being sought.

Paine said he doesn't know whether Kelley has decided to contest the PSC jurisdictional decision, take it to district court or drop the matter.

In other action, the PSC approved a $917,000 Rural Electrification Administration loan at 2% interest to the Clarks Telephone Co., but deferred authorizing increased subscriber rates.

Commissioners voted 3-1, with

BARTHOLOMEW'S READY... to skate off again.

His Roller Skates Ache For A Jaunt

Grand Island (AP) — Roller skates have been a part of Bud Bartholomew's life since he first laced up a pair in 1938.

His crowning achievement was in 1966, when he rode eight tiny wheels for eight months and 11 days on a trip from Spokane, Wash., to Miami, Fla.

Now 51, the Grand Island man said he would do it again if he could find a sponsor. His fondest dream, Bartholomew said, is to skate around the perimeter of the United States, shaking hands with the governor of each border state.

Bartholomew's skate marathon in 1966, with his bride Kathy following in a pickup-camper, was not the financial success he had hoped for.

Aside from a skate company that kept new wheels on his skates, he had no sponsor. Photographs of himself he sold along the way did not cover expenses and he had to take odd jobs along the way.

But he said the trip was not a failure.

"An influence on one persons' life would have made it worthwhile," he said. "How could you call it a failure when a dozen teen-agers in a Salt Lake City parking lot gather around you, just to hear you talk."

Bartholomew recalled he was given the best receptions in Nebraska.

His trip was delayed 27 days in Colorado when he contested a traffic ticket issued him for roller skating on the highway. A judge finally ruled there was no law against Bartholomew's unusual mode of travel.

The Bartholomews had a close brush with death at Wichita, Kan. It was 10 above zero and they were sleeping in the camper. They turned on their cooking stove to keep warm, the stove was using up the oxygen.

"If I hadn't fallen out of bed — or if the good Lord hadn't pushed me out — I wouldn't be here today," he said.

Bartholomew works for a pump company during the day and for a cleaning service most nights.

Fatal Collision Results In Term Of 1-2 Years

Omaha (AP) — An Omaha man was sentenced Thursday to a one-to-two year term in prison in connection with a crash which left another Omahan dead last May 23.

In July, Terry Recek, 20, pleaded no contest to charges of felony motor vehicle homicide stemming from the death of Leonard D. Lee.

Lee, 42, the father of six and a junior high school teacher, was killed when Recek's van slammed into his car.

At the time of the collision,

Recek's attorney, James Costello, told Douglas County District Court Judge James Buckley that his client feels "very badly" about the accident.

But Buckley, saying he hoped the confinement would deter Recek and others, ordered Recek sent to the Nebraska Penal Complex.

Mayor Vetoes Rezoning Of West Lincoln Property

Mayor Helen Boosalis has vetoed a City Council decision to rezone more than 100 acres of land in west Lincoln from residential to industrial.

Almost all the land involved is owned by Lincoln businessman David Breslow and University of Nebraska Regent Ed Schwartzkopf. An adjoining five acres is owned by businessman Glenn Alexander.

Mrs. Boosalis said the rezoning would discourage residential development now occurring along West A and West

South Sts.

In addition, she said, industrial development of the land would create transportation problems because extension of A St. would encourage industrial traffic through present or future residential areas.

The land involved lies between O and A Sts. east of Coddington. Schwartzkopf and Breslow made a similar rezoning request last year. It was denied by the council. In order for the council to override the veto there must be five favorable votes.

Platte Water To Be Used In Recharging Experiment

Aurora (UPI) — The U.S. Geological Survey is nearly ready to start transferring water from a well near the Platte River to one drilled three miles away in a recharge experiment financed mainly by a $250,000 grant from the Old West Regional Commission.

Water from the well near the Platte is of slightly different chemical quality than that in a well completed last weekend several miles northwest of here.

Bill Lichten, of Lincoln, project director, said water from both is of good quality "but any time you mix different quality waters, you can have a chemical reaction."

He said the "basic" aim is to find out if the experiment is economically feasible. If it were necessary to install a chemical treatment plant, that might make the transfer unfeasible, he said.

The "kindest cut of all."

$4 Million In Damages Sought In Fatal Explosion At Stratton

Lawsuits seeking more than $4 million in damages stemming from an explosion and fire at the Stratton school three years ago went on joint trial in Lincoln's U.S. District Court Wednesday.

Everett Yost, of Norfolk, Ark., formerly of Omaha, administrator of the estate of his late daughter Sally Ann Yost, is suing A.O. Smith Corp. of Kankakee, Ill., Emerson Electric Co. of St. Louis, Mo., and St. Paul Fire and Marine Insurance Corp. for $1,062,000. Miss Yost died of burns suffered in the Aug. 31, 1973, blast.

Warren A. League, 52, of Stratton, a custodian at the school during the blast, is suing the same defendants for $3,565,000.

The suits stem from the alleged malfunction of a gas shut-off device on a 30-gallon water heater which was in the basement of the brick and frame art building at the school. Fire investigators determined that the valve malfunctioned and allowed propane gas to leak into the room, causing the explosion, the plaintiffs contend.

League and Miss Yost were initially treated at the Dundy County Hospital in Benkelman and then transferred to St. Lukes

Warren A. League, 52, of Strat-

Hospital in Denver. Miss Yost was transferred to the Sam Houston Burn Center in San Antonio, Tex. where she died Sept. 18, 1973. Doctors said she suffered second degree burns over 80% of her body and third degree over 20%.

The suits claim that the defendants were guilty of defective design and manufacture of the water heater and its component parts. The defendants deny those charges, claiming that "misuse or unintended use of the heater and its components" caused the blast.

The trial is expected to last about two weeks.

Man Killed In Two-Car Accident

Virginia (AP) — A two-car collision in Gage County Wednesday afternoon took the life of Ernest Bredmeier, 55, of Steinauer.

A report from the State Patrol said Bredmeier's car was in collision at the west edge of Virginia with an auto driven by Jerry Kozak, 83, of Virginia, who escaped injury.

The Gage County sheriff's office said both men were alone.

Officers said Bredmeier was going east on Highway Four when his auto was in collision with the Kozak car, which was southbound on a county road.

The death raised Nebraska's

1976 traffic fatality toll to 258, compared with 238 by Sept. 2 last year.

Rating Not Surprising To One PSC Member

It's no surprise the Public Service Commission doesn't meet Common Cause standards for public accountability, a commissioner said Thursday.

Anyone who would look at the report by the national citizens' lobby "and analyze the standards that Common Cause puts up would know ahead of time that we don't meet (them)," said Eric Rasmussen of Fairmont.

When the Common Cause report was released this week listing the Nebraska PSC among those in 31 states flunking the standards, Chairman Duane Gay of Columbus expressed surprise, saying the body deserves good marks.

Rasmussen agreed that PSC compliance with open meetings and conflict of interest laws exceeds the Common Cause minimum expectations for a passing grade.

But he said one "legitimate problem" is no prohibition against industry-PSC mutual job-hunting. Now, commissioners may accept positions in industries they regulate, and those employees may be elected directly into a PSC seat "without a grace period," Rasmussen noted.

Opposing such regulator-regulated flip-flops, Rasmussen said "I think there's a real need" for a law to impose a waiting period before moving from "influence-peddler" to official and vice-versa for all state government positions, not just the PSC.

Legislation would be required, because the PSC cannot take such action itself, Rasmussen said.

Although lobby disclosure isn't required, he said the conflict of interest law and the PSC's own code of ethics should prevent any need for reporting lobbying expenses. Asked if some commissioners accepting free favors from industry isn't a lobbying form, he acknowledged "it's a real fine line with this commission."

Experts Advise Farmer To Leave Plow In Shed

By United Press International
Leave the plow in the machine shed.

That's the advice of University of Nebraska Extension specialists Phil Harlan and Ron Gaddis, who said any tillage or plowing of wheat or corn stubble in dry weather may put the soil in condition for lower water intake when it does rain.

Harlan, an agronomist, and Gaddis, an agricultural engineer, emphasized that — contrary to popular opinion — tillage does not conserve moisture.

When it is dry, disk or working the ground surface brings moisture up and it evaporates.

After a rain, they said, natural forces cause the surface to seal, so a minimum of soil moisture will be lost.

Fiji — Life begins in a shower of golden sunshine on the Fiji island of Mana. A big brown Fijian in a wraparound white sulu, diamond points at the fringe, shows teeth like sugar loaves. ("The better to eat you with, my dear?")

"Bula," he says. "Bula," says I. "Bacon and eggs. Toast and coffee."

He gives me a reassuring smile. And he doesn't come back for a half an hour. Somewhere between our talk and the kitchen, he's thought of something else.

When he comes back: "Bula." I say: "Bula. Bacon and eggs. Toast and coffee."

Life moves slowly in Fiji. The Fijian is in no hurry. He's not going anywhere. Why rush?

That's why Fiji imported East Indians," said an Englishman. He came here as a colonial administrator. Was washed out when Fiji became independent six years ago.

Fijians won't work in the fields. That's women's work, do you see? He fished. He made war. But he didn't dig yams. Not by a long shot.

"They brought in Indians. And now the Indians and their children outnumber the native Fijians."

The white traders and missionaries were moving in.

"We are like a piece of driftwood," he said. "For anyone to pick up."

Before we are up and the sky is getting light, the Fijian fishermen are out beyond the reef. The catch they bring in will be served for breakfast.

The beer is excellent Fiji Bitter. And in the long house, under the matting and big beam timbers, the trade wind blows gently.

A brown Fijian girl brings a huge clam shell to the room filled with scarlet hibiscus.

The colonial said: "Though we're out of government jobs now, we really have no complaint. It wasn't Britain's idea to take over the islands. It was King Cakobau. Though he wasn't a real king. More like a strongest chief."

The colonial said: "That was often quoted when the Fijians thought Britain wasiggardly in helping Fiji. It cost Britain $5 million a year to make up the deficit. Some of it went for our pay, of course."

One of the most pressing of Cakobau's problems was a $40,000 debt claimed by the U.S. A warship lay off Suva to collect it.

He offered to cede it to the United States who said no, thank you. Queen Victoria turned it down several times. Cabobau had too many "if and when" clauses.

ConfereesNear Tax*Revision

Washington (UPI) — A House-Senate conference committee worked Thursday toward a compromise tax revision bill, settling most issues except tax shelters, the minimum tax and child-care tax writeoffs.

Despite efforts to complete the bill before the congressional Labor Day recess, it appeared that a final compromise would not be reached until at least the middle of next week.

Major decisions remain after several days of work on the sweeping legislation, which would continue current tax cuts and revise hundreds of other tax laws.

The conferees spent most of their time Thursday making minor adjustments in previous decisions and holding behind-the-scenes conferences in an effort to strike a final compromise on the more than $1 billion in major issues left hanging.

Sen. Russell Long, D-La., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said the biggest effort was directed at balancing the minimum tax on the wealthy with changes in laws governing tax shelters.

He indicated that, in general, the Senate was willing to accept a version of the House's tougher language on one of the provisions if the House would weaken its stand on the other.

Both bills would significantly increase the minimum tax on a portion of some tax-free preference income, but the House version would increase the levy to a greater degree than the Senate's.

Similarly, the House curbs on tax shelters are tougher than the Senate's. The House would end many shelters, while the Senate would curb only major writeoffs.

Among the last items to be decided will be child-care tax breaks. It is generally conceded that working parents with children or with disabled relatives in the home will receive expanded tax benefits.

Jazz Society Striking Chord In Lincoln Audience

Lincoln can become a jazz mecca of the Midwest, a local musician thinks, and he's trying to do something about it.

Ted Larson, music coordinator for the Lincoln Jazz Society, has been at work since January getting jazz jam sessions and concerts together to spread the word about jazz.

Jazz, the name given a vast spectrum of Africandesque rhythmic music, has remained foreign to the rural Midwest and many of its urban centers.

But the Lincoln Jazz Society, an infant organization motivated by dedication to the art, is determined to remedy that.

Public jam sessions, which bring several musicians together to play their form of music, are being held monthly in the Zoo Tavern, 136 N. 14th.

"Every time we've played we play to standing room only crowds," Larson said. "We could fill a place three times that size."

Larson, a thinly built former marathon runner, said the jam sessions — an offshoot of Jazz Society formation last year — evolved from what began as friendly gatherings of a small group of musicians.

"When we organized the society, we had some sessions in private homes," Larson said. It was at one of the sessions that the public playing idea sprouted.

"We'd been having some good sessions and we decided to arrange a gig (performance) at the Zoo," Larson explained.

The Zoo management agreed to give the $1 cover charge — formally called a donation — to the Jazz Society when the group played there, an arrangement which still exists.

"It went over great," Larson said. "The place was packed."

But the idea men who helped spawn the first performance melted into the woodwork, leaving a dedicated Larson as the lone arranger (pun intended).

"Whether I liked it or not, it fell on my shoulders," he said. But he's been pleased with the success of the sessions.

"There've only been a couple of times when I came home and said I want to get drunk and forget it," Larson said.

Though the jam sessions are spontaneous and sometimes improvised (a jazz characteristic) Larson makes a point of "maintaining the dignity of the art."

"Whenever someone wants to play with us I just ask if he can read music and chord progressions," Larson said. "That usually eliminates most of the problems."

So far, the main core of the jazz group consists of regulars Randy Snyder, who will head the University of Nebraska jazz ensemble; Dana Weary, guitar;

Dave Stryker, guitar; Mike Rosinky, saxophone; Mark Luebbe, bass, and Subby Anzaldo and Wardell Smith on drums.

"Then there're a lot of others who stop in from time to time," Larson said.

"It takes patience," he sighed. "You have to be a real politician."

Most of the job involves contacting musicians and letting them know about a certain program. Other work involves arranging the sheet music to be used by musicians.

Larson is a musical virtuoso: he plays saxophone, piano, and writes and arranges music. Much of his own music is influenced by saxophone superstar John Coltrane and jazz trumpeteer Freddie Hubbard.

And since he's a full-time musician, his motives include helping aspiring jazz musicians find work.

"It's a rare occasion (in Lincoln) to find a jazz musician making his living with music," Larson said. "When you want to be a saxophonist, you have to be ready to pick up a clarinet and go play a polka" to make a living wage.

This summer, Larson's efforts seem to have been paying off. The Jazz Society band has played at Little Bo's, at a fashion show and concert at the Gateway Shopping Center and one afternoon performed at the Penal Complex.

"One friend of mine came to the Gateway gig. He'd never been a jazz fan before, but after he heard our group he got so excited he asked us to play for his wedding," Larson said. "And that's the way it's been catching on."

"The day at the Pen was the best," Larson said. "We were treated royally."

Future plans include Aug. 27 and 28 at Oscar's and possible appearances in local parks.

Walking Her Poodle Not Included In Lease

DEAR ABBY I signed a three-year lease for an apartment in a very expensive high-rise building, at which time the manager assured me that there would always be someone available to walk "Her Highness," my French poodle. I would not have rented the apartment without that stipulation, and it was my understanding that it was written into my lease.

Everything was fine for 14 months. The elevator man, the guard, the janitor or the manager himself would walk Her Highness regularly.

Well, the building changed ownership, and the new manager instructed all the help that they were not to walk any dogs on company time!

When I told the new manager that it had been written into my lease, he laughed and said I must be kidding. I then phoned my lawyer, who checked my lease, and he said it had not been written in!

What do I do now?

STUMPED IN CHICAGO DEAR STUMPED: Make new arrangements to have Her Highness walked. Trying to hold the new management to an agreement you had with the old management will be a royal headache.

DEAR ABBY: I am 21 and Rick is 20. We've been going steady for three years and planned to marry last Christmas. I had the wedding invitations printed and started making plans when Rick said he wanted to wait a while. No reason. He just wanted to wait.

TWO-YEAR HITCH

At Easter we set the wedding for June. I had some more wedding invitations printed and had my wedding gown put on layaway. My girlfriends even had some showers for me. Then Rick decided to wait until autumn! Again no reason. He says he still loves me, but I'm starting to wonder now.

I am so embarrassed and hurt. I told him if he doesn't go through with it this time, we're finished. He says he still wants me to be his girlfriend, no matter what. Tell me what to do.

HUMILIATED

DEAR HUMILIATED: Face it, dear, Rick isn't ready for marriage and you're lucky he had the sense and courage to admit it. Better a broken engagement than a broken marriage. Make a clean break, and don't be his "girlfriend." It won't work.

DEAR ABBY: I have lived steadily with a man (we are both over 21) for nearly two years. I kept thinking he would marry me, but whenever I mention it, he changes the subject.

Exactly how long do people have to live together before they have what is called a "common law marriage"?

How does a woman prove she's lived with a man if there is nothing in writing?

If it is a common law marriage, doesn't she get half of everything the man owns if they split up?

There are no children involved, but I think I'm entitled to something for being a wife to this man for two years.

contract. With 12 spades and 11 diamonds missing, the opponents are sure to find a better spot than clubs.

It is better to bid four hearts than three because there is a good chance the opponents can do well in either spades or diamonds, and the raise to four is more likely to silence them.

2. Four spades. Here you can show the precise nature of your hand in one fell swoop. The direct jump to game announces a suit long enough and strong enough to play opposite a singleton or void, as well as very limited defensive values.

The leap to four also makes it difficult for the opponents to get together for sacrifice purposes.

Furthermore, it enables partner to know what to do if East-West choose to bid five clubs.

To bid two spades at this point Four spades is a closing bid; it would cramp the bidding unnecessarily and make it difficult, if not impossible, for partner to realize that your at two clubs, but it would be spades are only four long. Why don't you just ask him how much he thinks your wifely services were worth in dollars and cents? But prepare yourself for a big disappointment.

DEAR ABBY: What can be done about a widow who makes a practice of calling on bereaved families every evening when close friends and relatives come to pay their respects? This woman has little more than a nodding acquaintance with most of these people, but she shows up night after night as long as others come.

I am so embarrassed and hurt. I told him if he doesn't go through with it this time, we're finished. He says he still wants me to be his girlfriend. Again no reason. He says he still loves me, but I'm starting to wonder now.

Beer On Tap Again

Jackson Junction, Iowa (UPI) — A group of workers from a local fertilizer plant bought the first round of beer to be served in this tiny northeast Iowa town in nine months.

Since December, any of the 109 residents who wanted a cool draw had to drive at least 7 miles to the nearest town licensed to serve liquor.

The long "drought" was the result of a gambling conviction of Ron Tucker, who owned and operated the Hi Way Grill, the only place that served liquor in town.

But it also served as the town's community center, attracting parents waiting for their school children and students who came for an afternoon snack. The only public telephone in town also was there.

The new operators of the Hi Way Grill found they were losing from $30-$200 a day without a liquor license and considered closing.

The community decided to appeal to the state for a new liquor license, which ordinarily cannot be reissued for a year.

A hearing board rejected the plea, but the Iowa Retail Liquor Association waged a successful appeal in Polk County District Court on behalf of the town.

China Official Lauds Canadian

GRAVENHURST, Ont. (AP) — The spirit with which Dr. Norman Bethune worked in China during the revolution has become an important bridge for Canadian-Chinese relations, Chang Chih-chang, vice minister of public health for the People's Republic of China, said.

Chang spoke at the opening of the Bethune Memorial Home here. He told the audience of 600 that Bethune's name has become a symbol in China of the friendship that exists with Canada.

Bethune went to China in 1938 to help the Communists when they were still a relatively small and beleaguered force in northern China. He became known as the "barefoot" doctor and trained many Chinese in medical practices. Bethune died in 1939.

Alternate Plant Site Draws No Response

Doniphan (UPI) — Doniphan Mayor Robert "Jody" Labrie Thursday said he has received "no response" from the Great Plains Power Agency concerning an alternate site for the proposed power plant at Doniphan to serve both Hastings and Grand Island.

Labrie said information on a willing seller, Habco Corp., Omaha, was given to the agency Monday night and was apparently discussed in executive session.

He said Habco owns about 1,000 acres at the old Navy depot east of Hastings. He said the land could be purchased for considerably less than the prime Doniphan land now under consideration.

Labrie said the Navy depot site has adequate water supplies, rail lines and nearby transmission lines. He said the oral offer was made hoping the agency could amend its application on the plant, which is pending.

He said he has checked with "a very high legal authority, and there is no way for the city clerk, city council or city attorney to keep from calling the special election," if the second petition drive is successful.

Gettmann said his second petition will call for a special election designed to allow voters to decide whether Hastings should participate with Grand Island in the Great Plains Power Agency, which would handle the day-to-day operation of the Doniphan power plant for the two cities.

He said he has checked with "a very high legal authority, and there is no way for the city clerk, city council or city attorney to keep from calling the special election," if the second petition drive is successful.

Market's Showing Erratic

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market turned in an erratic showing Thursday, registering some mixed feelings about the latest government figures on wholesale prices.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks slipped 1.16 to 984.79, ending a four-session rise that totaled 25.51 points.

Gainers, on the other hand, managed to outpace losers by about a 7.6 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

BIG Board volume, at 18.92 million shares, ran slightly ahead of Wednesday's 18.84 million total.

The Dow rose 3 points at the outset, showed a fractional loss at lunchtime, was up 1 at mid-afternoon and then settled back again.

At the opening the Labor Department reported that its wholesale price index declined 1 per cent last month.

But the drop stemmed entirely from a large decrease in the often volatile food component of the index. Prices for industrial commodities rose .7 per cent, during the month, the equivalent of an 8.4 per cent annual rate.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index picked up .07 to 102.48.

Hy-Gain Officials Say CB Blues Not Likely

By The Associated Press

If you held on to Hy-Gain Electronics stock that was worth more than $28 a share a year ago, would you now be singing the CB blues since it is being traded at $8.50 to $9.

That isn't likely, according to company officials. That $28 stock split three for one in August of 1975. It split two for one in December of that year.

The way Michael Fong, executive vice president of Hy-Gain sees it, your $28 stock would be worth about $54 at the $9 level.

"It goes up and it goes down; that's what makes the game go around," Fong said.

But everything is not bright at Hy-Gain headquarters in Lincoln.

Andros and his brother control about 40% of the Hy-Gain stock, some 1.4 million shares.

Hy-Gain said that its sales, profits and overall production would be down in the fiscal fourth quarter which ended Tuesday. No figures will be available for about two weeks, Fong said.

Hy-Gain quickly revealed a one-two strategy:

The output of certain 23 channel models has actually been increased.

Among these is the "theft proof" unit that can be placed in the trunk, with only the microphone mounted on the trunk.

Hy-Gain has also announced a plan to remanufacture some of its 23 channel radios into 40 channel units, at a cost of about $25 to the owner.

Hy-Gain production turned downward earlier in the summer. It picked up in August, and Andy Andros, Hy-Gain president, says the future of the CB industry is tremendous with untapped potential in a vast Western European market.

Accosted by a 9-year-old lad... Are you a fortune-teller? How do you tell a fortuneteller? How can you tell people what's going to happen? What am I going to be when I grow up? Like W. C. Fields and Humphrey Bogart, it may be that family and friends are the ones who have to do more for me than I do. How do I learn about...? Response: I'll give you a book. Response to response: Now give the book to me.

Waiting Period Over; Northeast-Southeast Battle Set

Bob Els
Lincoln Northeast Coach

By RANDY YORK
Prep Sports Editor

"Kickoff isn't until 7:30 Friday night in the early season football showdown between Lincoln Northeast and Lincoln Southeast. The week leading up to it has seemed more like a month to the coaches and players."

"We're tired of waiting for it," Southeast coach Frank Solich says. "This could be the big game on the schedule. We need things to happen."

The wait is bound to produce some butterflies, according to Northeast coach Bob Els. "We'll be a little jittery," he admits. "Even the seasoned veterans will be jittery. I'll be jittery. It's part of football."

The intra-city game, which could attract 10,000 fans, might produce rare offensive fireworks between two city teams.

"I don't expect a typical low-scoring city game," Solich says. Els is more reluctant to make a prediction. "There are all kinds of potentials," he says, "but there's also too many unknowns."

With Northeast owning one of the state's speediest backfields and Southeast featuring last year's most prolific passing attack, both teams are confident they can put the ball in the end zone more than once.

Consequently, both coaches have put the accent on defense.

"We know Southeast plans on scoring a lot of points and we're planning on not letting them score and that's it," Els says.

"We feel we have an aggressive bunch on defense this year," Solich says. "We're preaching sound, basic defense where everyone takes care of his own responsibility first. We've put in a few new wrinkles."

Necessity forced Solich into hyping his defense to meet the Rocket challenge. Although his Knights dropped a 14-6 decision to Northeast in last season's opener, Solich believes it was much more lopsided than that.

"We've looked through last year's film and if it's going to be a ball game at all, we have to play much better defense," Solich says. "It was almost pitiful at times the way they beat our defensive line."

"As explosive as Northeast is this year," adds Solich, "the game won't even be close, if we play the same type of defensive game. I hate to say that, but it's true."

Els agrees with Solich's observation. "We think we manhandled them in the line last year," the Northeast coach says. "But that's something you don't go around saying. It was a coach's dream. We didn't have to throw because we were handling them up front."

Both teams are almost completely healthy. Southeast linebacker Will Hewitt has recovered from a knee injury and tight end Ross Loudenback no longer is bothered with a sore shoulder.

Northeast safety Tom Sveha has been given medical clearance to play after being sidelined 11 days with a virus. Split end Ron Huber is healthy after missing four days with a sprained ankle.

Northeast will be the home team, so Rocket fans will sit in the west stadium. Southeast fans are asked to park in the east lots and sit in the east stadium.

Gates will open at 6:15 p.m. to accommodate the expected large turnout for the 7:30 p.m. kickoff. The game will be broadcast on a delayed basis, starting at 11 Friday night on channel 9.

Defending state Class B champion Lincoln Pius X opens its season Friday night at Fairbury. Defending state Class A champion Lincoln East hosts North Platte in a Trans-Nebraska Conference game Saturday night at Seacrest Field.

Cowboys Moved Up

Norman, Okla. — If the pressure wasn't already great on Coach Jim Stanley's Oklahoma State Cowboys to move up in the Big Eight Conference football race, it became intensified Thursday.

The Cowboys, who were voted to finish sixth in the summer poll of league area sportswriters and sportscasters, jumped three notches in the final poll conducted at the close of the Big Eight Skywriters tour.

Nebraska, a top-rated choice in the summer poll, won again, edging out Oklahoma by 26 points. The Cornhuskers, however, held a big edge in first-place votes, getting 30½ of the 40 cast. Nine went to Oklahoma while Colorado got a half-vote.

It is interesting to note that the boost in favoritism of the Cowboys came basically from writers and casters from Oklahoma. Twelve of the 40 Skywriters were from that state.

A check of most of the other writers indicated that only one of them had the Cowboys as high as third. Most voted them fifth or sixth.

Of course, the Oklahoma scribes could be right. OSU figures to be an improved team. My personal vote had the Cowboys fifth behind Nebraska, Oklahoma, Missouri and Colorado. It was difficult placing Kansas sixth, but somebody has to be a loser. I had Kansas State seventh and Iowa State eighth.

The actual vote and point totals, based on eight for a first, seven for second, etc., looks this way:

1. Nebraska 311; 2. Oklahoma 285; 3. Oklahoma State 202; 4. Colorado 196; 5. Missouri 189; 6. Kansas 147; 7. Iowa State 73½; 8. Kansas State 46½.

Skywriters Goof

In balloting for top players, the Skywriters named Missouri's Steve Pisarkiewicz and Kansas' Nolan Cromwell as the likely outstanding players on offense and selected KU's middle guard Mike Butler top defensive player.

In the newcomer category, Colorado quarterback Jeff Austin was named probable outstanding offensive newcomer. Just how he can be regarded a newcomer escapes me. He played backup last year to CU's Dave Williams and earned a letter.

Writers see Missouri middle guard Jim Matthews and Phil Tabor, Oklahoma right tackle, as co-outstanding newcomers.

Matthews is a freshman who Coach Al Onofrio is counting on to develop as the season progresses. Middle guard wasn't one of MU's stronger spots last season.

Tabor is another Skywriter "goof" — maybe it was the sauce on the tour — because he played in key games, including Nebraska, and lettered as a freshman last season. He had 19 tackles, broke up one pass and recovered a fumble during the season.

My votes went to Cromwell on offense and Nebraska's Mike Fultz on defense. For newcomers, I named NU I-back Richard Berns on offense and Missouri's Matthews on defense.

How To Become No. 1

Barry Switzer, Oklahoma coach who has guided the Sooners to back-to-back national championships, told Skywriters what it takes to win the No. 1 ranking and said making it three in a row "defies the odds — something like 10,000 to one."

He recounted what it took last season when Oklahoma managed to finish the campaign just where it started in preseason polls — on top.

"A team must be awfully good and awfully lucky, maybe more of the latter," Switzer said. He said OU's luck started when Missouri upset Alabama in the season opener and ended when Ohio State lost to UCLA in the Rose Bowl.

Although he didn't mention it, OU's victory over Missouri was an example of a great player coming through in a clutch situation. Joe Washington ran 71 yards for a touchdown in the fourth quarter and then made a two-point conversion to pull out a 28-27 victory for the Sooners.

Switzer doesn't think the schools with the top football programs across the nation are at the best stage they've been in the last few years. He said, "In looking for a potential No. 1 team I thought about Nebraska because they've got quality people. If we can't do it, I want a Big Eight team to win it."

He also said he thought about Texas and said the Longhorns might be if they can settle on a quarterback. He called California's Bart Roth the best quarterback in the United States today.

It all begins Saturday when Kansas goes to Corvallis, Ore., to face Oregon State. I'll take the Jayhawks 37-0.

Here are my selections on the other major games:

Miami of Ohio over North Carolina, Tulsa over Richmond, North Carolina State over Furman, Mississippi State over North Texas State, Ohio U. over Eastern Michigan, New Mexico State over Drake, Wake Forest over Virginia Tech, Mississippi over Memphis State, and South Carolina over Appalachian State.

Slippery Rock doesn't open until Sept. 11 when the Rockets take on tough Texas A & I. I'll have to study up on that one.

Hill, Murakami Lead World Series

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — Dave

Hill and Takashi Murakami were surprised to find themselves sharing the first round lead Thursday in the World Series of Golf—but for Jack Nicklaus, only a stroke behind, it was just another day of frustration.

Hill, the game's newest millionaire, and Murakami, a Japanese player with a millionaire's touch around the greens, shot a three under par 67 to head an exclusive field of 20 world-class players shooting for a record $100,000 first prize.

Nicklaus was the only one of the 20 to avoid a bogey but he was able to produce only two birdies in a round of 68.

"I wasn't too happy with my swing, but it was a good round," said Nicklaus, who suffered a painful series of near-misses on the greens, leaving several birdie putts just a turn or two short of the hole. If they all had dropped, it would have been an excellent round.

"The greens are good—but they seemed a little slow for Firestone," Nicklaus said.

That's the way it has been all year for Nicklaus, the game's greatest player. He heads into the final weeks with only one victory and a fifth place standing on the tour's money list, and both of those showings, if he doesn't improve on them, represent record low points for his unparalleled career.

Ray Floyd, the Masters Champion, was the only other player under par, shooting 69. Tom Watson, who holed a six-iron for an eagle at the 465-yard six, got home in two on the famed 18th hole, shortened to 575-yards to encourage a gambling approach over the water and made birdie and was at 70 with J.C. Snead, David Graham and Buddy Allin.

In nearly 6,000 previous tournament rounds on Firestone's South course, only two players reached the 18th green in two shots when it was played at 625-yards.

Murakami, 32, qualified for the World Series as the leader on Japan's Order of Merit, even opener on natural turf at LSU.

"Everett has played well," Osborne said of the wingback situation. "He blocks well, and is a good runner and receiver." Osborne also commended Walton for his play.

After viewing the Wednesday scrimmage films, Osborne was pleased with the improvement.

"Most of the time, the first offense moved the ball well against the third and fourth defensive units," he said. "That is what they should have been doing, although they are now more consistent."

Osborne was also pleased with the pass rush.

"Of course, the most important thing was that nobody was hurt," he said.

The Huskers will work out in pads again Friday and have a closed scrimmage Saturday.

Jerry Pate, the 22-year old U.S. Open champion, was at 71, one over, with Lee Trevino, who made five par putts of eight feet or longer, Hale Irwin and Hubert Green.

Dave Stockton, the PGA champion, had 73. Johnny Miller suffered a four-stroke penalty for too many clubs because his son's 28-inch putter somehow turned up in his bag, and shot 76. Ben Crenshaw, the leading money winner on the tour this year, had the day's highest score 78.

Murakami, 32, qualified for the World Series as the leader on Japan's Order of Merit, even though he is not a particularly long hitter he was able to master the long and tough Firestone course with a brilliant short game.

"I'd like to be able to chip and putt like he does," said Nicklaus who has played with Murakami in the past.

He one putted 10 times and needed just 26 putts in the round including a 15 footer for an eagle at the 500-yard second hole where he got home with a three wood.

NU Backfield Shifted

Nebraska football head coach Tom Osborne has moved Curtis Craig from the wingback depth chart to the I-back position, which moved Earl Everett to the No. 1 wingback position.

Osborne said Monte Anthony came out of Wednesday's scrimmage very strong and is still the Husker's first-string I-back.

The NU team worked out for two hours in pads on grass Thursday in preparation for the opener on natural turf at LSU.

"Everett has played well," Osborne said of the wingback situation. "He blocks well, and is a good runner and receiver." Osborne also commended Walton for his play.

After viewing the Wednesday scrimmage films, Osborne was pleased with the improvement.

They sang "Happy Birthday" to reserve coach Bill Story. They shouted in the showers. They slapped each other on the shoulders before boarding the bus for the short jaunt back to Lincoln High.

Is this the way to celebrate a scoreless tie?

Well, it all depends on how you look at it, according to first-year head football coach Larry Frost.

He didn't come right out and say it, but Frost wasn't grumbling Thursday night at Seacrest Field after his Links battled favored Grand Island to a scoreless tie in the Trans-Nebraska Conference opener 3-143.

"I think there was more pressure on our kids than maybe there should have been," Frost said. "Playing Grand Island, having a coaching change and a new, wide-open offense added up to a lot of pressure."

"More than anything, I think our kids are relieved," Frost said.

No one, however, was more relieved than Grand Island coach Ken Fischer. "We're just lucky to get out of here," he said. "We were outplayed."

That was indeed the case. Lincoln High held a 9-6 edge in first downs and a 163-66 edge in total offense.

More importantly, the Links had one touchdown nullified by a penalty, a big pass play to Grand Island's two-yard line called back and a 35-yard fourth quarter pass play wiped out by positive post-game reaction didn't surprise Lincoln High defensive coordinator Marv Mueller.

"It's obvious," he said. "This is a victory for us morally. It's a big step up. We tied a good team. We were 1-8 last year. Grand Island was in the playoffs. This builds confidence."

Navratilova Suffers U.S. Open Upset

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI)

— Third-seeded Martina Navratilova, the Czechoslovak shot-maker who found life so agreeable in the United States she defected just one year ago, was reduced to tears Thursday when she was upset by Janet Newberry in the first round of the U.S. Open Tennis Championships.

Navratilova, who has not concentrated on her game during the last 12 months as she has enjoyed the things earning in excess of $150,000 can bring, was knocked out of the championship. 1-6, 6-4, 6-3, by Newberry, a 23-year-old pro from St. Petersburg, Fla., who only returned to tournament tennis three weeks ago after undergoing an operation on her left knee in February.

The rain completely disrupted the schedule, but eased sufficiently in the late evening to ensure the two feature night matches involving Bjorn Borg and Guillermo Vilas could be played under the lights.

Earlier in the day, which was marked by rain and chill winds, Vitas Gerulaitis, the fourth ranked U.S. player who drives himself "to work" in a Rolls Royce, became the first man to reach the second round.

The seeded women, with some 8,000 fans watched in silence in the stands.

Morning Briefing

Jenkins Reported Satisfactory

Ferguson Jenkins
Boston Hurter

Ferguson Jenkins, the veteran right-hander the Boston Red Sox hoped would bring them a flock of victories this season, was reported in satisfactory condition after surgery on his right leg.

Jenkins suffered a torn right Achilles tendon while making a putout at first base in the fifth inning of a Wednesday game against the Texas Rangers.

The pitcher is out for the rest of the baseball season after compiling a 12-11 record. Jenkins had strained his Achilles tendon in July and missed two scheduled pitching starts.

Other Baseball

Oakland A's star Sal Bando was nearly sold to the Texas Rangers, but the deal collapsed when the Rangers refused to pay the third baseman $600,000 over the next four years, the Oakland Tribune reported.

The New York Yankees reactivated outfielder Elliott Maddox, who has missed virtually the entire season after knee surgery.

Eddie Robinson, executive vice president of the Atlanta Braves, has been hired by the Texas Rangers as director of player personnel, the Dallas Times Herald reported.

The Philadelphia Phillies signed first baseman Dick Allen, one of four members of the team playing without contracts, to a one-year agreement.

Football

Pittsburgh coach Chuck Noll, as a precautionary measure, will not play Larry Brown, Lynn Swann and Dwight White in the Steelers' final pre-season game against the New York Jets. All three will be ready for the season opener Sept. 12 against Oakland.

The Houston Oilers, awaiting the arrival of running back Artie Taylor from the Detroit Lions, released center Ronnie Carroll and defensive lineman Carter Campbell. Taylor has not reported because of what doctors describe as mental exhaustion.

A high school football player, Anthony Austin, of Jacksonville, Fla., collapsed after running wind sprints in practice and died later in a hospital. The cause of death is yet undetermined.

Basketball

The Portland Trail Blazers of the NBA announced they have sold veteran forward Sidney Wicks to the New Orleans Jazz and have acquired guard Herm Gilliam from the Seattle SuperSonics. Both deals were cash transactions. The Blazers also traded center LaRee Martin to Seattle for future considerations.

Freddie Lewis, one of the three original ABA players still active, has rejoined his own club, the Indiana Pacers, for their first year in the expanded NBA.

Gene Tormohlen, one of the last original Atlanta Hawks, has been named assistant coach of the Chicago Bulls. He signed a two-year contract after meeting with Ed Badger, who took over after Dick Motta resigned.

The University of Missouri basketball team will represent the United States in the R. William Jones Cup tournament Oct. 1-5 at Buenos Aires, Argentina.

Other Sports

Johnny Rutherford, winner of the Indy 500, leads the point standings for the Olsonite Triple Crown trophy with the final race in the series, the California 500, to be run Sunday. Rutherford has 1,600 points, followed by Al Unser and Wally Dallenbach, each with 1,300. The trophy is given for points amassed in the Indy 500, the Schaefer 500 at Pocono and the California 500.

David Pearson, who has won six other stock car races in Darlington, S.C., but never the Southern 500, took the pole position for the 27th running of the race.

The favorite in Saturday's rich Hambletonian for 3-year-old trotters is not considered a strong starter, but Pershing has impressed his driver, Bill Herman, with his stamina.

George Best, who has been Britain's most controversial sportsman for the past decade, will return to the English soccer fields as a member of the Fulham team after transferring from the Los Angeles Aztecs.

British heavyweights Richard Dunn and Joe Bugner signed for their heavyweight "showdown" at London's Wembley Stadium on Oct. 12 — a fight that will earn both men $135,000 on a 50-50 basis.

Brodie Falters In Amateur

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former San Francisco 49ers quarterback John Brodie fell victim to a virtual unknown in the United States Amateur Golf Tournament Thursday, but the two remaining ex-champions won their third-round matches.

Brodie, 41, fell 3 and 1 to 20-year old Tony Campregher, a powerful player from Long Beach, Calif., as the field in the national championship was cut to 32.

Defending champion Fred Ridley, the law student from Stetson University in Florida, eliminated Fredrick Kask, Wethersfield, Conn., 2 and 1.

The other ex-champion, Bill Campbell, 54, who won in 1964 and is competing in his 33rd national amateur, downed Gary Halberg of Barrington, Ill., 2 and 1.

Also advancing was British amateur champion Dick Siderowf of Westport Conn., who was even par in closing out Ed Barnes, Kennesaw, Ga., 5 and 4.

Jaime Gonzales, the Oklahoma State University champion from Brazil, who shot 31 for the lowest nine of the tournament, lost 1-up to Kelly Roberts of Canada.

Clayton Vance Heffner of Cary, N.C., whose father twice was runner-up for the U.S. Open title, advanced with a 5 and 4 victory over Joseph Walter of Baltimore.

The son, who was only 6 when his father died, prefers to be known as Vance.

"I guess I got interested in golf because of my father," he said after the third-round victory.

"I was playing a little when he was alive but I didn't start really playing till I was 12 or 13."

In another upset, Mike Powers of Oakland eliminated Lindley Miller, the All-American Golf collegian from Oklahoma State, 3 and 2.

Mike Reid of Brigham Young University, who was an All-American in 1974-75, advanced with a 3 and 1 victory over Gilbert Cavanaugh of Jericho, N.Y.

Reid, 22, plans to turn professional after this tournament.

Bryan Pini, the 17-year-old from Santa Cruz, posted a 1-up victory over Joe Rassett, a fellow Californian from Turlock.

Pirates Grab Seventh

By United Press International

Larry Demery pitched a five-hitter Thursday night for the Pittsburgh Pirates' seventh straight complete game victory for the Pittsburgh Pirates, a 50 decision over the San Diego Padres.

The win pulled the Pirates to within nine games of the idle first place Philadelphia Phillies in the National League East.

Ricbie Hebner doubled home two runs and stole home to give Demery just about all the help he needed. Hebner ignited a three-run fourth-inning rally when his double scored Willie Stargell, who had walked, and Dave Parker, who had singled. After Manny Sanguillen was walked intentionally, Hebner took third on a fly to deep center and worked a double steal with Sanguillen.

Frank Taveras singled, stole second and scored on Stargell's two-out double in the first and added another run in the third when he was safe on a fielder's choice, stole second again and came all the way around on catcher Bob Davis' wild throw.

In other games, Los Angeles swept a doubleheader from Montreal, winning 5-3 and 2-1, and San Francisco outslugged New York, 10-7.

In the only game in the American League, Minnesota drubbed Milwaukee, 8-4.

Bill Buckner drove in two runs to direct the Los Angeles victory in the nightcap after Don Sutton recorded his 17th victory of the season in the opener. It was the 14th career triumph by Sutton over the Expos.

Bobby Murcer drove in five runs and Mike Caldwell pitched five strong innings of relief for his first victory of the year after seven losses to give San Francisco its win over New York. Included among Murcer's hits during the game was a two-run homer off loser Jon Matlack.

Butch Wynegar had four singles, including one during a four-run sixth inning, to carry Minnesota past Milwaukee. Lyman Bostock and Rod Carew added three hits each in the Twins' 17-hit attack.

'Student' Pardee Faces Prof Allen

When George Allen moved from Los Angeles to Washington as head coach in 1971, one of the first players he brought along was Jack Pardee. Pardee continued to star at linebacker for Allen's Redskins for his two final years as a pro.

Friday night Pardee returns to Washington as Allen's rival, leading his young Chicago Bears, winners of four of five preseason games, against the Redskins.

Despite his long association with Allen, Pardee differs in philosophy when it comes to building a club. While Allen has always taken the veteran approach, obtaining experienced players rather than building with youth, Pardee has decided to go with youngsters.

Chicago's offense, directed by quarterback Bob Avellini, features the running of Walter Payton, Roland Harper and Johnny Musso.

Baltimore was at Detroit in a Thursday night game while in other Friday night action on the final weekend of exhibition play, Kansas City is at St. Louis, Atlanta plays Green Bay at Milwaukee and Cleveland is at Buffalo. On Saturday, San Francisco is at Los Angeles, Seattle at Oakland, the New York Jets at Pittsburgh, Houston at Dallas, Miami at New Orleans, the New York Giants at San Diego and Cincinnati at Tampa Bay.

Minnesota is at Denver and Philadelphia at New England Sunday.

Washington, which lost three of its first four games, was overwhelming Saturday night in a 38-7 rout of the New York Jets.

"We just decided that this would be the game we would put everything together," said Redskin quarterback Bill Kilmer. "We wanted to go out and play our game and it didn't matter who we were playing. It happened to be the Jets but I think that would have happened to any team."

The conservation pool standard of the lake is 1,946 feet above sea level, established in 1957. The lowest prior to the recent reading was in 1964 when it was recorded at 1,933.7 feet.

Dry weather, not increased irrigation acreage, is the main reason for the drop in the lake level. Only two years since the dam was finished in 1952 have been drier than the current 11.73 inches of precipitation.

There is only one usable boat dock on Harlan Lake.

Harlan Lake At Low Level

Alma — With Labor Day weekend at hand, vacationers should be aware that the Harlan County Lake, with an elevation of 1,933.51 feet above sea level as of last week, is at its lowest level in 19 years, according to information released by the Harlan County Reservoir officials.

Martin Leads Canadian Win

OTTAWA (AP) — Richard Martin scored three goals and had two assists Thursday night while Bobby Hull and Phil Esposito added two goals apiece, powering Team Canada to an 11-2 triumph over Finland in the opening game of the Canada Cup international ice hockey tournament.

"I've seen him work on new player reps," Bierne said. "He's a manipulator and I hope you'll quote me on that. It'll take a two-thirds vote to fire him and I'll bet we could get it."

"Garvey has lost sight of the union's ideals — to benefit all the players," said Fred Willis, a member of the NFLPA executive committee.

"This was the first specific dollar proposal the owners have given us in three years. We had new blood doing the negotiations."

Two other Houston Oilers players called for Garvey's dismissal.

Brady then appealed to the Nebraska Supreme Court. The high court reversed Blue's decision in May and ordered the district court to make a damage award to Brady.

Brady who was a history professor appealed to Lancaster County District Court in July.

A college professor dismissed from Wayne State College has been awarded a year's back salary by a district judge.

District Judge William Bill Rae ruled that Robert Brady is entitled to $10,400 as payment for the salary he lost during 1973.

Winds Double Pine Ridge Forest Fire

Chadron (UPI) — A fire along the edge of the Nebraska National Forest, Pine Ridge division, was rekindled by strong winds and doubled in size Thursday, spreading over 300 acres of national forest and private land in northwest Nebraska

Gov. J. James Exon ordered units of the Nebraska National Guard activated to assist firefighting efforts, primarily to furnish transportation vehicles for fire crews and to build fire lines

Temperatures were in the mid 90s Thursday with winds from the southwest at 20 miles per hour, gusting to 35 mph and relative humidity at 10%

Bob Tice, fire staff officer with the Nebraska National Forest, said the fire is in steep, wooded areas covered by

Ponderosa Pines and brush and numerous rocky buttes

The terrain makes it very tough to fight," he said. "Once the fire reaches the more level grassland, it's easily controlled. But the tough terrain and rocky buttes makes control extremely difficult."

Tice said two persons were hospitalized Thursday suffering from smoke inhalation. Tom Keeney, a Forest Service employee from Halsey, was hospitalized at Crawford, and Chadron Fire Chief Gely Mathis was taken to Chadron Memorial Hospital

Tice, who took an aerial survey, said the fire was under control Wednesday afternoon after blackening about 110 acres of private land and about 10 acres of National Forest Land

About 1 a.m. Thursday, he said, the fire broke through the fire line and blacked another 35 acres before being brought under control about 7 a.m. However, about noon, another separate fire or the same fire took off and doubled the whole size" to about 300 acres, Tice said

"Earlier it was mainly private land," he said, "but Thursday's increase has been mainly Forest Service land."

Tice estimated 75 persons were working the fire, including personnel from the Chadron and rural volunteer fire departments, the National Forest Service, the Chadron Job Corps, area ranchers and other volunteers

"We have ordered a trained Forest Service overhead team and three crews of Sioux Indians to the scene and we've made one air drop by a B-17 air tanker based out of Greybull, Wyo.," he said

We will continue using it (the bomber) until dark tonight and will use it Friday."

In addition, an agricultural spray plane, piloted by George Smith, has been working the fire, he said

We're expecting a weak cold front to pass over the area with a subsequent wind shift about 5 a.m. Friday, which could force the fire back to the southeast. Tice said

He said conditions "are very, very dry, with at least a couple of weeks since the last appreciable precipitation."

VARNER SLICES . . . melon for students.Officials Serve Students' Snack

There may be no such thing as a free lunch, but there was a free watermelon feed Thursday evening on the University of Nebraska-Lincoln campus.

And though you may not believe you can get a handout from a government official, Lincoln Mayor Helen Boosalis was there handing out slices of watermelon.

There were eighty of the melons — weighing a grand total of 3,000 pounds — provided by FarmHouse fraternity and Delta Delta Delta sorority.

Asked why they were feeding watermelon to the entire campus, a FarmHouse member replied, "Why not?"

The melons came from the family farm of a FarmHouse brother.

Besides Mrs. Boosalis, other dignitaries slicing melons and meeting students were NU President D. B. Vaner, NU Athletic Director Bob Devaney, UNL head football coach Tom Osborne and UNL head basketball coach Joe Cipriano.

The feed was held near the fountain outside the Student Union. While some students grabbed a quick slice on their way by, others stayed to socialize.

The rinds were all neatly deposited in litter barrels, but there were trails of watermelon seeds in and out of the Union and down campus walks.

Agency Chief Disputes Mental Health Charge

Grand Island (UPI) — Roger Harper, executive director of Mid-Nebraska Mental Retardation Services, Thursday said statements made by a state official about movement of patients from the Beatrice State Home into community-based programs indicate he is "grossly misinformed."

Harper's comment was aimed at State Institutions Director Jack Cleavenger, who said earlier this week that "zero" patients have been moved from Beatrice to community programs.

Cleavenger told UPI this week, "We've had 300 ready to be moved but the (Community Mental Health) regions won't take them."

Harper said this was erroneous and cited action taken by the institutions department as being the prime contributing factor in the relocation problem.

"Because of large fund reductions last year," Harper said, "our client count in region 3 dropped by at least 16%. It will take at least one quarter of our present funding year to get up to the former level of service now that we are adequately funded."

He said there were clients moved into the region from the Beatrice State Home.

Man Threatened By Hitchhiker

A Lincoln man was forced to drive at knife-point from 27th and Leighton to downtown Lincoln Thursday afternoon after picking up a hitchhiker.

Ronald M. Chaloupka, 35, of 5700 Colby, told police he was kidnapped by a woman who flagged him down, got into his car, and pulled out a knife. The woman made him drive to 11th and D, where she got out.

Police said a 35-year-old woman was arrested and is being held pending charges.

Boy, 7, Injured By School Bus

A seven-year-old bicyclist was struck by a Lincoln Public Schools bus Thursday evening in front of his home at 1444 S. Cotner.

FBI Searching For Key Omaha Trial Witness

By JON SWEET

Omaha (UPI) — U.S. Attorney Daniel Wherry said Thursday night an intensive FBI investigation has been launched into the apparent disappearance of a key witness in a federal bank robbery trial.

Wherry said a warrant had been issued for Miss Brenda Nelson, in her 20s, for her failure to honor a subpoena to testify Tuesday in the case of Clarence "Jimmy" Tittsworth, 26, of Omaha.

Wherry said he met with Miss Nelson of Omaha Monday and said she appeared apprehensive and afraid to give testimony in the case. Wherry said such an attitude on the part of a potential witness wasn't uncommon.

Parolee Found Guilty In U.S. Treasury Check Case

Omaha (UPI) — An Omahan, on parole after serving part of a prison sentence on a heroin conviction, was found guilty by a U.S. District Court jury Thursday night on one of two counts filed in connection with the theft of a U.S. Treasury check.

The jury found John G. Turner, 27, guilty of participating in the forgery of the $561.90 check, but innocent of stealing it from the mailbox of a north Omaha home on March 1.

Turner testified as the only witness in his defense and denied the allegations.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Thomas Thalken used two admitted accomplices of Turner as witnesses in the trial.

The government alleged Money from the check was used to purchase a car from an Omaha used car dealer. The car was then sold to another used car dealer in Omaha.

Jury selection in the trial before U.S. District Judge Robert V. Denney began Monday. The jury took 2½ hours to return the verdicts.

However, Wherry said failure of a witness to honor a subpoena was "highly unusual."

"If she's located by the FBI," Wherry said, "she can be found in contempt of court by the judge. At this point, we have no evidence any foul play was involved."

Tittsworth, John Stanley Davis and his cousin, Donald Davis, all of Omaha, were charged with the Nov. 3, 1975, armed robbery of the Omaha National Bank's Grover Plaza branch during which $15,716 was taken.

Wherry said Miss Nelson and John Davis shared an apartment, and she testified during Donald Davis' trial that she was present when the three returned from the robbery and watched them split the money.

Wherry said Miss Nelson has identified all three as being those who divided the money and testified as to what she saw at the time during the trial of Donald Davis, who was convicted by a jury in January on charges of bank robbery and threatening the bank's assistant manager with a pistol.

Jury selection in Tittsworth's trial began Monday, but Wherry said testimony was halted Wednesday afternoon in an attempt to find Miss Nelson. The defense called no witnesses during the trial.

Tittsworth was charged with the same counts as Donald Davis and his case went to the jury late Thursday. Wherry said information regarding Miss Nelson's disappearance was entered into evidence.

John Davis testified in the trials of his cousin and Tittsworth and identified both as his accomplices. When asked if he felt the absence of Miss Nelson's testimony to substantiate that of John Davis' hurt his case in the Tittsworth trial, Wherry said, "There's no question about it."

John Davis pleaded guilty to bank robbery and the second count of assault was dismissed in return for his becoming a prosecution witness. He was sentenced to four years in prison, while his cousin received a seven-year sentence.

Wherry said John Davis was arrested the night of the robbery, and his cousin four days afterwards. Tittsworth was apprehended July 13. All of the arrests occurred in Omaha.

Wherry said all three, who were masked, had pistols and at various times pointed them at the heads of the bank tellers. Although one shot was fired, no one was injured.

Wherry said John Davis was arrested the night of the robbery, and his cousin four days afterwards. Tittsworth was apprehended July 13. All of the arrests occurred in Omaha.

Low Level UAW Talks Go On

Detroit (UPI) — Key bargainers of United Auto Workers and Ford Motor Co. met for less than one hour Thursday but spokesmen said work went on at a lower level negotiating a new contract that would avert a strike by 170,000 workers at midnight Sept. 14.

UAW spokesmen said union negotiators were not preparing a counter-proposal to Ford's initial wage offer which was put on the bargaining table Tuesday. That offer was quickly rejected as "an insult to Ford workers" and since then only two one-hour "main-table" bargaining sessions have been held.

The major bargaining give-and-take is at the main table in Ford's world headquarters' negotiating suite in suburban Dearborn. Subcommittees handle preliminary discussions on proposals and demands.

Foreword Didn't Advocate Abortions

By The Associated Press

Jimmy Carter, under attack in some circles for his stand on abortion, wrote a foreword to a 1972 book whose authors say they think every woman has a basic right to decide to terminate pregnancy. Carter did not advocate abortion.

An aide to the Democratic presidential candidate said Thursday that the foreword was not inconsistent with Carter's oft-repeated stand against abortion and did not indicate any change in his views.

The book, "Women in Need," by James Trusel Jr. and Dr. Robert A. Hatcher, was published by the Macmillan Co.

The book discusses the problems of sex education, contraception, sterilization and abortion and talks about what the authors call "an epidemic of unwanted babies in the United States." The book includes case histories of five women, including two who underwent abortions, one self-induced and fatal, the other illegal.

The National Catholic Register, in its Sunday, Sept. 5 issue, includes a front-page story on the book, saying that Carter "made a 'plea' four years ago for abortion 'services' to halt 'an epidemic of unwanted babies.'"

Carter's foreword covers a page and a half. It is written in general terms and talks about the need for voluntary family planning services. Carter does not use the "epidemic" phrase.

The Democratic candidate, who was governor of Georgia during the period he wrote the forward, expressed concern over "coercive" approaches to limit population growth.

"Each of us must study just what role he or she can play to ensure the right of individual couples to bring healthy, wanted babies into this world on a voluntary basis," Carter wrote. "As a society, we must develop positive programs which deliver services in a dignified setting and on a completely voluntary basis. This would be the plea . . . of the authors . . . I join them in making this plea to the American public."

The authors of the book say, "This country could assure that every child born has the right to be a wanted child by making methods of birth control available in a voluntary, dignified manner to every sexually active man and woman . . . Methods of birth control include contraception, sterilization and abortion . . ."

"We think . . . that each woman has the basic right to decide with her physician to terminate her pregnancy if she does not want to bear a child."

Betty Rainwater, a Carter press aide, said Thursday: "There is nothing in the forward that would indicate a difference in his attitude toward abortion then and now. He did not make a plea for abortion. The plea was for educating women on abortion and family planning."

Carter has said repeatedly that he personally opposes abortion, but he also is against the so-called "Right-to-Life" amendment to the Constitution proposed in an attempt to negate a 1972 Supreme Court ruling on abortion.

He said Jan. 22, "I do not favor passage of a constitutional amendment to prohibit abortion." In an April 24 interview with The Associated Press, he added: "I have always proposed . . . that under the framework of the Supreme Court ruling, which I cannot change, that I would do everything I could to minimize abortion. I do not favor using federal money for abortion. I do favor a nationwide program, established by law . . . for family planning, sex education, access to contraceptives."

On Aug. 30, after meeting with Catholic bishops in New York, Carter said he was not completely happy with the language of the Democratic platform which he said "insinuates" that religious groups and private citizens don't have the right to seek an amendment banning abortion. "I would never try to block such a constitutional amendment," he said. Carter said, "I've never said I would actively oppose every possible constitutional amendment that was proposed on the subject of abortion," but he added that so far, he has not seen any legislation drafted that he could support.

All of our demands are on the table, a UAW spokesman said after Thursday's short session which was described by a company spokesman as "frank and businesslike."

Neither side appeared ready to budge from its original positions and the tempo of the critical auto talks was not expected to quicken until Ford or the UAW decides to try a different approach.

Minor Earthquake Rattles Residents At Puget Sound

Seattle (UPI) — A minor earthquake rumbled through northern Puget Sound early Thursday shaking many residents at an early awakening.

Sismologists at the University of Washington said the quake, which struck at 6:36 a.m., measured 4.0 on the Richter Scale and was centered about 20 miles northwest of Port Angeles in the eastern end of the Strait of Juan de Fuca.

There shouldn't be any damages or injuries, a spokesman said and law enforcement agencies around the region reported none.

A spokesman at the Canadian Search and Rescue Coordination Center in Victoria, B.C., said the tremor was felt strongly in that city and less so in Vancouver.

It struck about 6:36 and lasted no more than three seconds, said Capt. Frank Gavin of the center. "It was probably the best one we've had here in quite some time. It kind of jarred things in my house."

A woman on Lopez Island called the San Juan county sheriff's office to report a five-gallon bucket of tar was tumbled off the roof of her home by the quake. Sheriff Don Brown called into his own office to say his entire house was rattled.

Clallam County residents on the Olympic Peninsula also reported feeling the quake sharply. Pictures were tumbled off television sets and bounced against walls and dishes were rattled.

Two residents near Port Angeles said they thought they heard an explosion before the quake. Persons in San Juan County also reported hearing a noise.

Tax Tops Inmates' Gripe

By The Associated Press

The Unicameral's Judiciary Committee has received a petition signed by about 175 Nebraska convicts who question why they must pay state sales tax and who want a uniform "good time" law.

The inmates of the penal complex first sent the petition to Lincoln Sen. Steve Fowler whose staff passed it along to the Judiciary Committee. The Judiciary panel works on corrections matters.

The inmates said in their petition that they make 50 cents a day for work, but must pay the same sales tax on purchases as do other Nebraska residents who make much more.

"If a person's voting privileges, plus all other rights under the law, are taken away, then why is he taxed at all?" the inmates asked.

"Then there is the big problem of LB667, it not being retroactive for all those who came before Aug. 25, 1975," the inmates wrote.

The law mentioned is Nebraska's new "good time" statute, which changes methods by which convicts can earn early release for acceptable behavior.

"It seems so unfair and ungodly to have the same people under two different sets of laws," the inmates wrote. "Why not have all the inmates of the Nebraska penal complex under one law of the state?"

Provisions of the previously passed good time laws in Nebraska cover inmates sent to the complex before the new law took effect late last year.

Mrs. Marsh Blasted For 'Tax Crunch Role'

Legislature hopeful Ron Wylie charged Thursday that State Treasurer Frank Marsh and his wife State Sen. Shirley Marsh of Lincoln played "a double-edged role" in the creation of Nebraska's tax crunch.

Lincoln's 29th District voters nominated Wylie to the general election contest challenging Mrs. Marsh.

She "sits on the Appropriations Committee playing the game of boondoggle in the state while Frank, as treasurer, sits on the State Board of Equalization and presides over the consequences of his wife's poor judgment," Wylie said.

He made the statement in prepared remarks for an address before the Lincoln chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons.

The new increases in the state sales and income taxes "marked a legislative capitulation to an entrenched state bureaucracy," Wylie said. He speculated that if Nebraskans saw how state senators appropriate money, "there might be an armed revolution in this state."

Chambers Files Complaint Against Municipal Judge

Matejka has represented Howard. Chambers said some of Carlson's treatment of some of Matejka's clients deserves investigation.

Boslaugh was not available to comment on what action the commission might take on Chambers' letter.

Sen. Labedz, David Marrero Will Contest Unicameral Seat

By The Associated Press
State Sen. Bernice Labedz and legislative candidate David Marrero, both of the 5th legislative district in Omaha, won official placement Thursday on the Nov. 2 general election ballot.

Secretary of State Allen Beermann said he received confirmation from Douglas County Election Commissioner Mike Boyle that Labedz and Marrero had successfully completed petition requirements.

Private College Grants Endorsed

By The Associated Press
A 46-member statewide committee called Nebrascans for Equal Opportunity in Higher Education has been formed to promote passage of Constitutional Amendment 6, Part 2, which would permit state-financed tuition grants to private college students.

President is Robert Hamilton, Omaha, a vice president of the Federal Reserve Bank, Kansas City, and Omaha branch manager. Milford teacher Julie Jantzi is vice president. Springfield banker Robert Jink is secretary treasurer.

Private colleges in Nebraska may now match federal funds with their own dollars. Private college officials say this is not the intent of the federal law.

Fowler Campaign Needs $9,000

State Sen. Steve Fowler, Lincoln, has sent a campaign solicitation letter stating a $9,000 budget will be needed to wage a "competent effort" in his re-election bid in the 27th district.

Fowler said he would use the money to tell voters his views on housing, energy, social services, and transportation.

He included a copy of the letter.

Beermann Hits Cavanaugh Stand

By The Associated Press
Secretary of State Allen Beermann Thursday criticized state Sen. John Cavanaugh for back-postcard voter registration.

The federal postcard bill should pass, would cost in the neighborhood of $100 million to implement, Beermann said.

Beermann, a Republican, also said the plan would increase the chance of fraud in the voter registration process.

"I still believe a candidate must offer a program as well as an image to the voters," Fowler's letter said.

His opponent is Don Stenberg, Lincoln.

Steelworkers Support Carter-Mondale Ticket

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The 1.4-million-member United Steelworkers Union threw its support to Jimmy Carter on Wednesday as delegates to the union's convention here unanimously endorsed the Democratic ticket.

In a sometimes raucous session, the 4,300 delegates also rejected a move to roll back union dues. It was a resounding vote of confidence in the administration of retiring president I.W. Abel.

The decision to endorse the Carter-Mondale slate in this year's national election followed a plea by Al Barkan, director of the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education, to turn President Ford out of the White House.

"Behind that plastic smile is a man who has voted consistently against labor," Barkan said.

The dues issue was the most controversial so far at the week-long convention, with delegates from all parts of the country joining a pocket of dissidents from the Chicago area in opposition to the system.

Members of the United Steelworkers currently pay dues equal to two hours gross pay per month. At the union's last convention in 1974, a $10 ceiling was removed despite heavy opposition.

"There is no delegate here who wants to cripple this union," said Marvin Weinstein of Youngstown, Ohio. "But there is vital need to reform this structure."

Alex George of Aliquippa, Pa., also spoke against the present system, saying some members in his local who work only five days a month have paid up to $30 in dues.

Housing Shortage Threatens North Platte

North Platte (AP) — The City of North Platte faces a critical housing shortage that could threaten the city's future growth.

That is the conclusion of a detailed housing study conducted in North Platte during the first six months of the year and presented to city officials at a meeting this week.

To meet the demands, the study said a minimum of 330 housing units must be built each year, according to the study by Gladstone Associates, a Washington, D.C., consulting firm.

The city paid $28,000 for the study. The study said the most urgent need is for apartments and less expensive homes. The typical family moving into North Platte needs a home selling for less than $40,000 or an apartment that rents for less than $150, the study said. That type of housing is not available, the survey concluded.

The study recommended that the city encourage refurbishing of older homes, improve existing neighborhoods, stimulate new housing by rezoning some vacant lands within the city for higher density use, and encourage development by having the city purchase vacant land and resell it to developers below cost.

The study projected that North Platte's population will increase from the present estimate of 22,860 to between 24,950 and 28,910 by 1980. By 1985, the study said, the city's population should reach 27,000 to 30,400.

department personnel to park their private vehicles while on duty.

The catch is, the lot is between two University Area 2 parking lots, and, even though the section is posted: "City of Lincoln Private Parking Unauthorized Vehicles Will Be Towed Away", students insist on using the lot, police said.

HEW Secretary Mathews Called In On Carpet

Washington (UPI) — President Ford summoned Health, Education and Welfare Secretary David Mathews to the White House Thursday to explain why the nationwide swine flu vaccination program has fallen far behind schedule.

Ford pushed the vaccination crash program through Congress earlier this year and presidential press secretary Ron Nessen quoted Ford as saying Thursday "it damn-well better run right."

Dr. Theodore Cooper, head of the flu program, was also summoned to the White House meeting.

Exclusion Fuels Guard Conflict

A Nebraska National Guard major who was not invited to participate in a guard conference has challenged the superior officer who excluded him in a showdown over who is fit officer.

Maj. Robert Van Valkenburg of Lincoln was deliberately excluded from a conference in Camp Ashland set for Sept. 18-19, according to Col. John Sieffkes, guard chief of staff.

Sieffkes said he had heard that Van Valkenburg was dissatisfied with the leadership of the guard, so he was excused from attending the conference. "When you have a bad apple, you don't put him in with the others," Sieffkes said.

Van Valkenburg, who has complained about mismanagement and misconduct in the guard to various Army departments, said he had proof "who the bad apple was."

Van Valkenburg challenged Sieffkes to meet with him in a public setting to air this proof.

"If I can prove conclusively what my position is, and he is not, then he should resign from the National Guard," Van Valkenburg said. "If he can present a conclusive argument, then I will resign."

Sieffkes said he would not debate Van Valkenburg because it would not be proper.

state adjutant general, said he might consider allowing such a confrontation but added "there are better forums to resolve this."

Winner also said the Inspector General's office and the National Guard Bureau in Washington D.C. have looked into allegations by Van Valkenburg and found them groundless.

Van Valkenburg said he had recently been to the Pentagon with his evidence and was told a major investigation of the Nebraska Guard was coming "soon."

Winner said, however, he was aware of no such probe, adding, "If there is one, I would know about it."

Some University of Nebraska students who apparently are having trouble reading have been losing their cars.

Since classes started on the Lincoln campus Monday, police have towed more than 30 cars from a city lot on the north side of Q St. between 18th and 19th. The lot is used by street and fire
